

INSURGENTS START DRIVE

HENDAYE, FRENCH-SPANISH FRONTIER, Dec. 23.—(UP)—The Spanish insurgent armies of Generalissimo Francisco Franco opened a climactic "Christmas offensive" today in an effort to smash the heart of the Loyalist government's defenses in Catalonia.

The main drive centered in the Terida sector.

Under clear, cold skies, the insurgent armies struck at four immediate objectives, according to advices reaching the frontier. The immediate objectives, according to the crushing of mass Loyalist armies along the Catalonia front and the capture of the great industrial city of Barcelona.

Food Shortage

A food and fuel shortage in Loyalist Spain appeared to be as serious a threat to the government as was the Franco military offensive. Exhaustion behind the lines—as in Germany at the end of the World War—was a danger that the Barcelona authorities were taking drastic measures to try to overcome.

The points of military attack appeared to be toward Cervera and Tarragona following a terrific aerial bombardment in the Segre Valley.

Armies Advance

Reports of fighting in these sectors indicated that the Nationalist armies had been massed near Laida, on the rugged frontier of Catalonia, where the Segre river runs almost parallel with the border until it joins the Ebro.

From the Erida sector, one column appeared to have struck northeastward along the railroad line leading to Barcelona, with Cervera as its first big objective.

Air Battle

Another column farther south headed along another railroad line toward Tarragona, on the Mediterranean coast, fragmentary advices indicated.

Airplane and artillery bombardments heralded the advance. The insurgents reported that they had shot down four Loyalist planes in a dog fight over the Segre valley.

Four Seek Job As Orange Chief

Four aspirants for the office of chief of police of Orange to succeed George H. Franzen who will be chief deputy sheriff of Orange county, January 1, were named today as Logan Jackson, outgoing sheriff, G. W. Coltrane, member of the Orange police force for about 10 years, Fred C. Swazey, former deputy sheriff, and Carl M. Carlson, member of the Orange city council.

A special meeting of the Orange city council will be held tomorrow at 10 a. m. to appoint the chief. It is rumored that a large number of other candidates for the office, have filed applications for the appointment.

Navy Promotions Approved By FDR

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—(UP)—President Roosevelt approved today promotion of 214 lieutenant commanders of the navy to the rank of commander.

Among those advanced were Lieut. Commander John Wesley Roper, son of retiring Secretary of Commerce Roper, and Lieut. Comdr. James Joseph Hughes, commander of the gunboat Panay which was bombed and sunk in China a year ago by Japanese bombers.

Roper, who is 40 years old, is attached to the naval academy at Annapolis. Hughes, who recently returned from the Far East, has been ordered to duty in the third naval district, New York.

U. S. To Stand Pat As Nazis Study Rebuke

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—(UP)—A high administration official indicated today that the United States would maintain its strong, positive attitude toward the German government even though resultant events might lead to a severance of diplomatic relations.

The state department's rebuke to Germany through Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles was not calculated to cause a diplomatic breach. But amicable relations were more strained than at any time since the World War because of Welles' refusal to apologize for or to express disagreement with a speech delivered by Secretary of Interior Ickes.

Up To Germany

For the present, the result of the diplomatic clash depended upon the German government. It was stated officially that the new move, if any, must come from there. It was emphasized that the future German-American relations may depend upon the action Germany takes.

According to high administration officials, President Roosevelt was determined not to back down, and is prepared, if necessary, to attempt to force Germany to live up to the terms of its "friendship" treaty which guaranteed the personal liberty and the rights of enterprise of all Americans residing in Germany.

Repeal Apology

The present situation was created at a conference Wednesday between Welles and Dr. Hans Thomsen, charge d'affaires of the German embassy and ranking member of the German diplomatic staff.

OLSON SAYS U. S. TO CONTINUE SPENDING

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 23.—(UP)—Governor-Elect Culbert L. Olson returned to Los Angeles today from Washington, D. C., where he conferred with New Deal leaders on the California relief situation.

"There will be no additional federal money available for this state, beyond what is now allocated, until after congress has convened and appropriates it," Olson said. "However, from my talks with members of the new congress, I am convinced that federal spending is going to continue, although there will be a stiff fight over it."

Satisfied

Olson said he was satisfied with the results of his trip, during which he saw "everyone with whom the state will be in working relations."

"California can be sure of complete cooperation from the federal government," he said.

Olson would not comment on reports that sponsors of the $30 every Thursday pension plan were gathering a million signatures on a petition asking him to call a special election at which the plan would be submitted to the voters again.

Son Goes Along

The governor-elect was accompanied on the trip by his son and secretary, Richard Olson; Frank Clark, slated to become state director of public works; and Walter S. Ballou, secretary of the state Democratic central committee.

Olson will observe Christmas with his family here and will leave either Sunday night or Monday for Sacramento to complete plans for his inauguration Jan. 2.

Option Betting On Dogs Barred

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 23.—(UP)—Option betting on dog races was ruled illegal today by Superior Judge Inez W. Bull who found Thomas Scully, operator of a Culver City dog track, guilty on two counts of bookmaking.

The ruling and conviction of Scully followed a test case filed by the district attorney's office after the Culver City track had been in operation for several months during the fall.

Scully's defense was that the purchaser of an option in reality was buying a share in the dog, not betting on the result of the race. Deputy District Attorney Thomas O'Brien contended that because thousands of tickets were sold on the same animal, it was impossible for the buyer to exercise his option to obtain ownership of the dog.

Business Houses To Close Monday

Christmas Day will be celebrated officially on Monday, December 26, New Year's day, officially on Monday, January 2, and all places of business and city, county, state and federal offices will be closed.

That was the report of Phil M. Brown, secretary-manager of the Business Men's association, today after receiving numerous telephone calls regarding the celebration of the two holidays.

"Many persons have called, wanting to know whether the two Mondays will be holidays officially," Brown said. "Definitely, they will be."

FRR STUDIES RR AD PLAN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—(UP)—President Roosevelt's special railroad committee today submitted to him a series of recommendations designed to rehabilitate the nations ailing $26,000,000,000 rail transport system.

The advisors comprising both rail management and rail union heads declared the first step in rebuilding the carriers is "adoption of a definite national transportation policy based upon such principles of equalization as will provide a fair field for all and special favors for none of the various modes of transportation."

Seven Proposals

- 1.—Adoption of a national transportation policy providing a fair and impartial regulation of all competing forms of transport.
- 2.—Centralization within the interstate commerce commission of general rate making and supervisory powers over all forms of transportation.
- 3.—Revision of present ICC rate making rules to apply to all forms of transportation.
- 4.—Repeal of the so-called long and short haul clause of the ICC act (this clause provides that railroads may not charge less for long freight hauls than the sum of short freight hauls in the same direction).
- 5.—Amendment of reparation clauses of ICC act in accord with ICC recommendations.
- 6.—Provide the ICC with power

Seek Identity Of Kidnapers

SANTA ROSA, Dec. 23.—(UP)—A stolen automobile used in the kidnaping and robbery of E. R. Ferguson, 65-year old employee of the state home at Eldridge, was gone over thoroughly today for clues to the identity of Ferguson's abductors.

The machine, undamaged, its windows closed and doors locked, was found partially covered with brush on an obscure road in Napa Valley. It was returned to Santa Rosa.

Ferguson was forced into the car in Santa Rosa. He was robbed of $10 and then thrown from the machine after a 20-mile ride.

Eric Pedley Held As Drunk Driver

The 10-goal poloist was taken into custody by road patrolmen O. E. Slater and J. C. Blumfield after Pedley's automobile collided with another vehicle driven by J. J. Lovejoy. Neither driver was injured.

REVEAL MUSICA BOASTED HUGE FORTUNE; COULD HAVE RETIRED

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—(UP)—Investigators conceded today that E. Donald Coster, the masquerading ex-convict, had truthfully boasted in his suicide note that he could have retired in 1928 with $3,000,000 honest profits from McKesson and Robbins, Inc.

He was 51 then, and his childhood poverty in New York's slums, his two jail terms for smuggling and swindling were concealed by his new cloak of respectability. He might have enjoyed the rest of his life in luxury. Instead, he remained to preside over the drugs firm he had expanded across the country, to become a prey to the depression and to blackmailers who knew him as Philip Musica, once of the "rogues" gallery. He turned back to bootlegging the source of his original financial stake, he kited the valuation of the company to show $21,000,000 assets that did not exist.

His suicide note was made public yesterday by his attorney, Samuel Reich. It was written in the luxurious Coster-Musica home at Fairfield, Conn., a few hours before the master swindler blew out his brains a week ago. It disclosed that he had given one last thought to what he might have done in 1928.

He said the reason he stayed on was to protect the stockholders from "bankers, lawyers, auditors, appraisers and high salaried executives." Federal and state investigators, however, think it was greed.

Man Killed By S. A.-Bound Car

Walter Johnson, 25-year-old dayman, was killed today near Artesia when his automobile was demolished by a Pacific electric special express train en route to Santa Ana.

An unidentified man in the automobile with Johnson was seriously injured.

Motorman R. R. Ruse told sheriff's deputies that he was unable to avoid the crash when Johnson drove on the tracks just as the special came into the intersection.

The Pacific Electric Christmas mail train was in charge of Conductor Jerry Willis, of Santa Ana, and Motorman Reldon R. Ruse, Los Angeles.

The motorman told sheriff's deputies a broken airline caused his wheels to lock and slide on frost-covered rails.

FIRM GETS SHIP CONTRACT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—(UP)—The U. S. Maritime Commission today awarded a contract for two cargo vessels to the Moore Drydock Co., of Oakland, Cal. It was the first construction to go to the west coast under the commission's program for rehabilitating the American Merchant Marine.

The ships will cost $2,857,760 each.

22 Saved As Ship Sinks

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—(UP)—The American freighter Schodack radioed today that it had completed a dangerous rescue in mountainous seas of 20 men and two women aboard the sinking Norwegian oil tanker Smaragd.

The rescue, started at dawn 550 miles east southeast of New York after a night-long vigil at the stricken tanker's side, was completed at midmorning, according to a message from the Schodack received by Radio Marine at its Chatham, Mass., station.

All hands including the captain were removed from the Smaragd by lifeboats manned by members of the Schodack's crew.

It had been a dangerous mission. There was no certainty that the life boat could get to the tanker or could get off the human cargo before it sank or could even survive in the raging sea. It contained eight oarsmen, a rudderman, and an officer.

Storm-Torn Sea

Radio operators all up and down the coast listened tensely to the drama being enacted in the lonely wastes of the Atlantic where two ships were being tossed furiously.

PAIR SEEKING YULE TREE MET BY DEATH

GRAFTON, Ohio, Dec. 23.—(UP)—An 84-year-old farmer shot to death an unemployed father and wounded the man's wife, authorities said, as the couple attempted to take a Christmas tree from his farm early today for their children, then disappeared as officers sought him.

The victims were Carl Rousseau, 37, and his wife, Minnie, 29, parents of girls 11 and 8.

Sheriff Carl Finnegan of Lorain county, said the couple fell from a shotgun blast fired by Will Case.

Calls Constable

Finnegan said Case had walked to the home of his nearest neighbor, Leland Martin, and said: "I just shot a couple of guys trying to steal some more of my trees. Call the constable and tell him they are lying on the road."

Constable Lymon Hitchcock of Columbia township was first to arrive. He said Rousseau was slumped dead over the front wheel of the couple's old automobile by the roadside. Mrs. Rousseau, he said, was leaning against the car, moaning.

"I'm shot," she told him, "get some help."

Saved Pennies

The shooting occurred at 2:45 a. m. when the couple was returning home after spending the evening with relatives in Cleveland. The relatives told Finnegan that the couple had managed to save a few coins to buy ten cent store gifts for their children, Geraldine and Rose.

Finnegan said the presents were stacked neatly in the back seat when he discovered the tragedy. By their side was an expensive string of lights to go on a Christmas tree.

"The Case place has a lot of 'pine trees,' the sheriff said. "As they passed there they decided apparently to cut down one so their kids would have a tree for Christmas. Old Man Case was robbed last year, and this year many of his trees have been stolen."

Finnegan said Case was partially deaf.

Youth Ends Life In Jail Cell

HOUSTON, Tex., Dec. 23.—(UP)—A 17-year-old boy who twice had threatened to leap from high buildings onto Christmas shopping crowds, hanged himself today in his jail cell where he was held for safekeeping.

Papers in his pockets indicated he was George Washington Gibson, son of Santa Monica, Calif., and that his parents live in Santa Monica. He hanged himself with a belt taken from a cellmate who was lying in a drunken stupor.

He first created a disturbance at noon yesterday. He climbed into a window on the tenth floor of a business building and threatened to jump to the street below. Several persons argued him out of the act.

MAN SOUGHT AFTER REPORTED ATTACK

FDR Studies Railroad Aid Plan

Alleging Louis Pratt, Santa Ana man, pushed his way into the home of Miss L. Banta, 640 North Parton, yesterday at 8:50 p. m. and criminally assaulted her after a hand-to-hand scuffle which upset much of the furniture, Miss Banta signed a complaint today charging him with contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Miss Banta alleged Pratt knocked on the door and when she opened it thinking her sister was there, he pushed his way into the home. She declared she was bruised about the arms and knees and knocked almost senseless in the fight. Officers W. E. B. Sherwood and Richard Bradley were unable to find Pratt after Miss Banta called police.

At 11:13 p. m., Miss Banta placed a second call to police headquarters, alleging Pratt and Elmer Peterson, 33, the latter of 3027 South Main, were driving around her home and worrying her. At 12:34 a. m., today, Peterson was arrested at First and Birch streets and booked at county jail on charges of drunk driving, being drunk, and driving while his operator's license is revoked. Pratt was not with him at the time.

Expect Labor To Capitalize On Favorable Setup At Sacramento

Editor's Note: This is the fifth of a series dealing with problems facing the 1939 legislature, emphasizing labor. The United Press polled the senate and assembly as the basis for the articles.

By John W. Dunlap

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 23.—(UP)—Labor in California can be expected to capitalize in 1939 on its most favorable legislative outlook in history.

Never has a legislature been more aware of social and labor problems. This has been brought about by several developments, chiefly:

1. Election for governor of Culbert L. Olson, liberal Democrat and long a labor champion.
2. Ellis Patterson named lieutenant governor after a vigorous assembly record in behalf of labor.
3. Defeat of the labor control initiative at the Nov. 8 election (although more than a million "yes" votes were cast).

Kidwell Friendly

4. Institution of the federal wages hours law for businesses engaged in interstate commerce.

5. Birth of a movement by the rank and file of labor to settle differences between the CIO and AFL.

While not directly related to its legislative program, Olson's appointment of George C. Kidwell as director of industrial relations was seen as a friendly indication toward labor. Kidwell is a veteran AFL union leader in San Francisco, has served as arbitrator for many strikes and is highly regarded both in and out of labor ranks.

Fight Deeds

Two of the most important labor measures expected to be introduced will be a "Little Wagner act" for California and a wages-hours bill similar to the federal statute. Similar bills have been seen in Sacramento before but there will be a united drive to put them through both houses in 1939. The wages-hours law would take up where the federal interstate ruling leaves off. Similarly, collective bargaining rights and labor relations would be treated in the second bill like the federal Wagner act.

The Democrat-dominated assembly will originate much of the labor legislation but the real fight centers in the senate, composed largely of rural members and having a small Republican margin. Knowing in advance that many liberal bills will be engulfed in senate committees, some legislators may try to combine several matters in one bill, hoping the senate may overlook one to pass something else.

New Zealand Plan

The possibility of Olson establishing a mediation service to arbitrate labor troubles was overwhelmingly favored by the legislators. Opinion was more divided on the need of legislation providing for the uninterrupted movement of crops and orderly distribution of commodities during periods of industrial dispute, but the majority voted "yes."

The possibilities of copying the judicial system of settling strikes in New Zealand will not be overlooked. This would follow the pattern of having employees file notice of strikes and employers of lockouts, with causes set forth in detail. Immediate arbitration would be set up, with a final judicial authority to be the deciding factor in case of deadlock. Railroad brotherhoods in this country also use a plan having an underlying principle of arbitration.

An attack on the prorate law was seen from some quarters, with the possibility that the question of wages and hours will be linked with prorate enforcement.

Strong Weapon

Generally speaking, the Republican administrations of the past 40 years have built up broad administrative powers for commissions and executives. Thus, legislation will be unnecessary for many policy changes. This will enable Olson to set a new course in many fields without placing his full program on the floor of the legislature for a vote.

Should either house—and particularly the senate—balk on any of the measures that Olson desires, he has the effective weapon of calling special sessions. Legislators dislike coming to Sacramento at their own expense, with the entire state cognizant of the specific subjects that the governor wants discussed. This makes straddling most difficult.

Tomorrow—Other legislation.

Spy Sentenced By L. A. Judge

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 23.—(UP)—Karl Allen Drummond, 21-year-old former aircraft corporation employee, today was sentenced to serve two years in federal prison following his conviction on espionage charges.

The sentence imposed by Federal Judge Leon R. Yankwich was the maximum penalty possible under the charge brought by Drummond who was convicted largely on his own brother's testimony that he tried to sell plans for naval planes to Japanese.

"Humane Bits"

By FLORENCE A. ROBINSON

Merry Christmas, good friends of little animals, and don't forget your pets with a present on Christmas morning.

Remember "Tiger," the fascinating feline of the Elmer Schenkels of whom I wrote recently? Well, she is going to find a calico catnip house under the family tree.

Ruth Robertson's scottie, Jack, must have been a very good little dog this year for he is going to get a stocking filled with canine fun.

Four little Pekes, that rule the Isom home in Midway City, are going to find dog cakes in their stockings. You know, those luscious sweet cakes that are really good for dogs.

"Buddy" Nelson, the cute Boston terrier that lives at 2381 Riverside drive, is going to be rewarded for good behavior with a crackle bone; and Eleanor Metzger Klein's Nicholas Nickleby will be teething on a rubber bone for the next month.

Jingle bells will indeed be on the air in the Ted Blanding home, when "Laddie" Blanding finds his jingle ball Christmas morning.

"Tay Toy," Mrs. Roy Lyons cute Pekingese is another lucky dog. There will be a big stocking for him, filled with interesting doggie things.

And just wait until "Mickey" and "Mose," those impish wirehairs of the M. E. Lamba, 919 Cypress street, get all dolled up with the stripping knife that is to be their gift for Christmas. I hope they like it and that it doesn't pull.

Another "Mickey," and a wirehair also, was to have been adorned with a beautiful new chromium plated collar on Christmas morning; but alas, when his mistress, Gertrude Colver, arrived home yesterday she found no Mickey. Investigation revealed that he had been killed by a hit and run driver. We will all miss Mickey.

The wirehair quads, Invaders Lad II, Playboy, Banjo Boy and Precious Lady, who with their mother "Topsy" Donnybrook boss the E. R. Majors home on 2473 Riverside drive are going to receive identical black and white blankets for Christmas. You will hear more about these rascals later. They are news!

Our Wag dog is going to receive some fish medicine, as well as her usual rubber rat. We think the first gift will be a benefit to both Wag and ourselves. Winkle Cat is getting a mechanical mouse and is presenting one to her playmate, "Sandy" Leecing, also. Please don't tell!

Wish I could take time to tell you about all the pets in Santa Ana but this will have to suffice with a great big merry Christmas from the Orange County Humane society and yours truly.

U. S. Stands Pat On Nazi Rebuke

here since the recall of Ambassador Hans H. Dieckhoff.

Thomsen protested and demanded an apology for Ickes' speech in Cleveland Sunday night in which he condemned persecution of Jews.

Welles refused to accept the protest and, in addition, severely criticized the German government controlled press for "unjustified" attacks on Mr. Roosevelt and members of his cabinet, and former President Woodrow Wilson.

Welles then refused to officially express regret that Ickes' remarks had been made.

Await Answer

State department officials recalled that no satisfactory answer yet has been given by Germany regarding the status of Americans and American owned property in Germany as a result of recent anti-Semitic decrees—the cause of long-continued conversations and diplomatic exchanges.

Any move by Germany to include American residents and business interests in the provisions of those decrees, designed to force all Jews out of business, would create an extremely serious situation.

Officials believed that any action along that line would force a complete break of diplomatic relations.

F. D. R. SUBJECT TO NAZI ATTACK

BERLIN, Dec. 23.—(UP)—Nazis turned their attention to President Roosevelt today as their leaders considered what to do as the result of a blunt United States rejection of the Nazi protest against an attack on dictators by Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes.

The Deutsches Nachrichten bureau, the semi-official agency which disseminated news to German newspapers, issued the following, reporting the award to the President of the medal of the American Hebrew magazine:

The committee granting this significant reward is composed of prominent Jews and Jewish partisans, including the financial czar Baruch, the publisher Bloch, Bishop Manning and MacConnell, and further Morgenthau, the industrial Schwab, the conductor Toscanini and the New York Jewish chieftain, La Guardia.

The persons mentioned are Bernard Baruch, financier; Paul Block, newspaper publisher; Bishop William T. Manning, Protestant Episcopal bishop of New York; Bishop Francis J. McConnell, of the Methodist Episcopal church, who is president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America; Henry Morgenthau Jr., secretary of treasury; Charles M. Schwab, steel manufacturer; Arturo Toscanini, world famous Italian orchestral conductor, and Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia, of New York.

Fear Break

It was understood that Adolf Hitler would decide personally what action the Nazi government should take in answer to the blunt American rejection of the protest against Ickes' speech.

In private quarters there was speculation whether the incident might lead to a formal break in relations between Germany and the United States. There was no hint from government circles. Neutral observers, however, inclined to believe that there would be no break, partly because of the serious effect on German foreign trade. It was forecast that in event there was a break, Germany would seek to pin it directly on the Ickes' attack.

Washington expects his office to be filled either by Solicitor General Robert H. Jackson or by Gov. Frank Murphy, the red head from Michigan who was the victim of the anti-CIO rebellion which aided the Republican comeback last November.

The next cabinet vacancy to be filled will be in the justice department from which Attorney General Cummings will retire next month. Cummings, like Roper, is an old line Democratic politician but he has been in the front rank of New Deal battles in some of Mr. Roosevelt's hottest fights. It was Cummings who shared with Mr. Roosevelt responsibility for the Supreme Court reorganization proposal which Congress repudiated last year.

But Cummings did have important political connection with the Congressional conservative bloc.

TRIO PLEADS "NOT GUILTY" AT HEARING

Charged with kidnaping and robbery of Jack Baker, Santa Ana taxicab driver, as well as driving his car with intent to steal it, Lester and Joseph Geddis and George W. Russell all pleaded not guilty today, when arraigned before Superior Judge James L. Allen who set their trial for February 8 before a jury in Judge G. K. Scovel's court.

The alleged crimes occurred November 27 when the three defendants, it is claimed, hired Baker to drive them to Anaheim, then took the cab away from him, robbed him of $3, and drove to a point near Fullerton where he was released.

They continued with the car. Baker said he had heard them discuss plans to go to Knott's Berry farm near Buena Park and hold up the cafe there, but that plan was not carried out. Meanwhile Baker had notified Santa Ana police, who met the three defendants as they were returning to Santa Ana in Baker's cab.

The manifold federal and state investigations of McKesson and Robbins, as well as of the Musica brothers' affairs, were recessed for the holidays. Next Tuesday, they will be resumed in the light of a reference in the suicide note that "some directors" of the company knew all along that the crude drugs department was a fake.

It charged that "one in particular, now co-trustee has been selling his common stock and that of his friends to the public with full knowledge of the situation under investigation."

Four boys in an automobile, license number of which was obtained, were blamed last night in connection with theft of Christmas presents from another car parked at 209 1-2 South Main. J. F. Miller, 112 Seventh street, Huntington Beach, reported the theft to police. The loss included shirt, slippers, handkerchiefs and a carton of cigarettes.

The smile vanished from the Gimp's deeply lined face when he realized that his $40,000 bond no longer was valid and that the bailiff who had him by the elbow was leading him to a cell in Los Angeles' skyscraper jail, pending the judge's sentence.

The Gimp waved a farewell to the crowd outside the courtroom with his free arm and hobbled away. The pockets of his smooth-tailored suit bulged with fan mail from women whom the Gimp said mostly had wished him freedom for a Christmas gift.

Miss Etting and Alderman, the pianist with whom she eloped the day the Gimp testified in his own defense, said little when they learned of the verdict.

"I bear no malice toward anyone," said the 40-year-old Miss Etting, whose eyes were deeply circled and who plainly revealed the strain under which she has been since the shooting last October 15. Her husband, blonde, plump, and 10 years her junior said:

"Let the law take its course."

Scout Troop In New Quarters

Fifteen members of Lions club scout and members of the scout committee last night initiated the new meeting place of the troop at Ed Hall's ranch cabin on East Fourth street near Tustin avenue.

Hall and Floyd Haskill, scout master, were in charge of arrangements that included a "snack" lunch.

Others who assisted in the housewarming affair included Assistant Scout Master Carl Peterson, George Tobias and Bob Murphy. The troop plans to have the cabin for a regular meeting place.

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 23.—(UP)—People shuddered and turned their heads today as they passed the Christmas displays in department store windows, where bearded, fur-wrapped men impersonated Santa Claus. The temperature was nearing 100.

Musica Boasted He Had Huge Fortune

Gregory F. Noonan, assistant United States attorney, agreed that blackmail had much to do with the swindle.

"He was surrounded by a group of persons who knew him out of his Musica life, of whom we already know eight," Noonan said. "Some were even put on the McKesson and Robbins payroll. Most were paid out of his own pocket, and altogether, they took from Coster in blackmail a substantial part of what he took from McKesson and Robbins."

Kin of Local Family Is Dead

Miss Dorothy A. Shipp, of Los Angeles, sister of Mrs. J. F. Donovan, of Orange, and Mrs. Della Bishop Hart, of Santa Ana, died last night following an illness lasting six weeks.
Miss Shipp's death was thought to have been caused partly by grief over the death of a fourth sister, Mrs. Santa M. Elliott, of Indianapolis, who died November 14.
Besides Mrs. Donovan and Mrs. Hartwood, Miss Shipp is survived by two brothers, S. W. Shipp, Chicago and J. R. Shipp, Los Angeles; three nieces, Mrs. Maynard Thompson, Anaheim; Mrs. V. E. McCollum, Minneapolis; and Mary Leone Shipp, Los Angeles; and a nephew, J. F. Donovan, Jr., of San Francisco.
Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at W. A. Brown, chapel, Los Angeles, with interment at Forest Lawn cemetery.

FAKER IS HUNTED

A 60-year-old man who presented a "sob story" about war experiences and his need for money to give his child "a nice Christmas," was sought by police yesterday as a beggar and bunco "artist."
The man was reported by Harry Edwards, director of the Veterans' welfare board, who alleged the man is a faker. The man is described as five feet, four inches tall, heavy set, and wearing a blue suit.

HARWOOD MAPS FINAL "DRIVE"

An all-time record was reached on Tuesday when 87,500 pieces of mail were cancelled at the Santa Ana post office, according to a check made today by Postmaster Frank R. Harwood. He reported that nearly 300,000 letters were cancelled during the first three days of this week.

The total on Monday was $2,300; and on Wednesday $2,700 for a total of 252,800 for the three-day period.
Hours For Windows
In addition to letters run through the cancelling machine there are eight meter machines in the city not included in the total, and a number of pre-cancelled letters were added to the aggregate.
Harwood today reported that the general delivery window would be open until 6 p. m. tomorrow and from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. on Sunday. Parcels coming in to the post office will be delivered all during Sunday and Monday. Stamp and parcel post windows will be open until 5 p. m. tomorrow.

One Delivery Tomorrow

Carriers will start late from the post office tomorrow, Harwood stated but will "clean up" every bit of mail in the building before leaving. There will be only one delivery of mail tomorrow.

TALK ON CRIME IS WINNER AT MEETING

"Crime Among the White Collar Class," a thought-provoking talk on the criminal tendency among white collar workers won Dudley Morrison first place in El Camino Toastmasters club competition at the club's dinner meeting in Danvers last night.

Clevo Adams of the Huntington Beach club spoke on "How Can America Best Fight Communism?" He pointed out that poverty, lack of education, loss of freedom of speech, all promote communism and a right against communism will effectively discourage other "isms." R. G. Webb, also of the Huntington Beach club, spoke on the "Public Ability Act of 1923," which permits an injured person to sue a government agency.

Charles Seares spoke on "A Man's Reach Should Exceed His Grasp," inspirational talk on man's need to try to reach the impossible; Herbert Hearle, on "A Different Christmas Present," story of a Christmas eve during the war; Ted MacBird, on "Present Day Architecture Recordings;" E. M. Sundquist, on "Insurance Company Organization," brief outline of the organization of mutual, reciprocal exchange and stock insurance companies.

John Colwell was toastmaster, Don Jordan, general critic. Jordan was assisted by Leon Lauderbach, Reine Chew, Phil Hood, Dr. C. J. Ruley, Dr. H. M. Curry, Ralph Smedley and Ray Overacker, the latter a visitor from Huntington Beach. The speaking contest next Thursday to determine El Camino representative for the county-wide contest later will include Glenn Woolley, John Colwell, Phil Hood, Dr. C. J. Ruley, Frank Harwood and E. M. Sundquist.

Troubles of Rev. M'Gehee Pyramid With Judgment

Difficulties increased yesterday for the Rev. Harney M. McGehee, of Anaheim, who is being held in county jail on morals charges involving boys. Superior Judge George K. Scovel awarded $305 judgment against him, together with interests and costs, in a suit brought against the minister by A. B. McGehee, of Los Angeles, who is not a relative.

A. B. McGehee sued on an assigned claim of his father, J. B. McGehee, who received a promissory note from the minister at Van Buren, Ark., some years ago. In his answer to the suit, the Rev. Mr. McGehee claimed he had satisfied the note by transferring property interests in Seminole, Okla., to J. B. McGehee, who had accepted payment.

The suit was denied in justice court, but A. B. McGehee appealed to superior court and was successful there.

Will You Help Fill Them?

The mute but poignant plea of the smiling Salvation Army kettles, Mrs. Lora Davenport, of 1405 West Sixth street, is for assistance in filling the 300 Christmas baskets for the needy of the community, part of which are shown in the picture above. Part of the foodstuffs have already been procured but the Army is faced with the problem of getting $800 worth of groceries for $400, the amount still needed to successfully complete the holiday cheer.

NEW APPEAL SOUNDED AS ARMY DRIVE NEEDS $400 FOR GOAL

Dimes planted in the curbside Salvation Army kettles will grow into dollars. And right now dollars are badly needed by the Salvation Army, faced with a $400 deficit on its Yuletide activities.

Major John Naton today urged generous contributions to the Salvation Army-Register Christmas fund as the half-way mark of $400 that is needed to provide food and cheer to 300 families in the community that will be neglected unless assistance is given to them.

Hundreds of Needy
Not only are there 1,500 needy, men, women and children in homes who must be provided for but hungry homeless itinerants will be fed and housed at the Army Shelter on East Third street. And the Salvation Army must pay the bills for this activity out of a separate fund since the Community Chest allotment for the Army is budgeted for other purposes.

"We are most thankful for those who have worked hard for our Christmas fund," Major Naton said, "but we are still in need of more money."

Wants Happy New Year
"Somebody must help us if we are to have a Happy New Year and if all shoppers who pass the kettles on downtown streets will pause to contribute a bill or a silver coin in the name of the poor and destitute our Merry Christmas will be turned into a Happy New Year."

Recent contribution totaling $59 have been received at the headquarters at 214 North Sycamore. Among the donors were: O. M. Harrison, Mabel L. Johnson, Mrs. W. Bonds, Mrs. and Mrs. H. R. McCoy, W. B. Hellis, and friends.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH SERVICES PLANNED

Setting of Episcopal services for Christmas in Santa Ana again will be in the Episcopal Church of the Messiah, Seventh and Bush streets, to be beautifully decorated, the Rev. W. J. Hatter, rector, announced.

There will be a midnight service and choral communion beginning at 11 p. m. on Christmas eve while on Sunday, the usual 7:30 a. m. celebration of the Holy communion will be cancelled and the celebration be held at 9:30 a. m. Instead, the usual opening exercises of the Sunday school class at 9:30 a. m. will be cancelled but classes will be held for all children attending. The classes will be held in the parish rooms.
At 11 a. m., morning prayer with appropriate festival music will be held and the rector will preach on "Great Joy." On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, St. Stevens, St. John and Innocent days, there will be celebrations of Holy Communion at 10 a. m.

SPEEDERS, OTHERS FINED

Two speeders fined by City Judge J. G. Mitchell yesterday after pleading guilty, were Theo. Russell, Fullerton, $8, and Kathryn Sweeney, Huntington Park, $5. Russell also was fined an additional $5 for boulevard stop violation. Robert L. Jones, Orange, was fined $5 for boulevard stop violation. Richard Caveller, Los Angeles, was jailed for 60 days after pleading guilty to charges of petty theft and vagrancy. He assertedly stole a pair of slippers belonging to Mrs. Madge Douglass.

"Why Blame Me?" Asks Man Held In Bunco Racket

Be wary of buying rings from door-to-door or street salesmen. That was the warning issued today by Santa Ana police following the arrest of Bob Kelley, 55, transient, at Second and Bush streets, last evening on vagrancy charge.

Detective Lieutenant Charles W. Wolford arrested Kelley on complaint of Herman Lewis who said he gave Kelley $150 for a ring after Kelley stated he was "broke." When arrested, Kelley had 29 similar rings on his person, hidden in numerous pockets of his clothing.

Faces Charge
The rings, according to Kelley's statement, were purchased by him for $150 per dozen. According to police, a charge of bunco probably will be filed against him.
"I'd rather sell these rings this way than to beg," Kelley was quoted as saying. "And if anyone's sucker enough to pay more than the rings are worth, why blame me!"

LIBRARIAN PRAISES BOOK CONTRIBUTORS

Public expression of gratitude was made today by Miss Ethel Walker, Santa Ana Public Library head, to organizations that had contributed books during the past year.

Among those singled out for special mention were the Native Daughters of the Golden West, Santa Ana chapter, who donated "Southern Trails to California," one of the Southwest Historical Series, edited by Ralph Bieber. The American Legion Auxiliary presented to the library "The Hidden Lincoln," written from the manuscript of William Herndon, Lincoln's law partner. Daughters of the American Republic, Santa Ana chapter, gave a copy of the recently published "History of the Daughters of the American Republic."

Magazine Subscriptions
Subscriptions for the blind in Braille, "The Readers' Digest in Braille," donated by the Women's Auxiliary of the Orange County Medical association, and "All Story Braille Magazine" donated by the American Brotherhood for the Blind, have been received.

The Santa Ana chapter of the W. C. T. U. gave a collection of books and pamphlets on the effects of alcoholic beverages.
In addition to these there have been numerous other gifts of books and magazines and the library gratefully acknowledges all such gifts which have their own valuable place in the library collection," Miss Walker said.

HELD IN MORALS QUIZ

Charged with committing a morals offense while loitering about the Spurgeon school playground, occupied by several children, George Cecil Randall, 56, Route 1, Box 609, Orange, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Officers B. A. Hershey, N. L. Neuschwanger and Chet Gross. He was apprehended in the act of committing the crime, according to allegations.

JURY ADJOURNS UNTIL JAN. 3

The county grand jury will not be out of the trenches by Christmas. Nor by New Year's day. Foreman William Schumacher of Buena Park, who earlier had indicated that the grand jury was working toward a dismissal before Christmas, today made known that the inquisitorial body has adjourned until after the holidays.

Committee Reports
Hope of winding up its work and filing its report this month was abandoned when the grand jury found itself confronted by enough committee reports and unfinished investigations to keep it in session until the middle of January.

Even that date will be unusually early for a grand jury to complete its work, records of recent years show.

FORMER S.A. WOMAN CALLED BY DEATH

Mrs. Lena Gerry, 72, former resident of Santa Ana and mother of Mrs. George P. Ames, 1411 North Olive street, died yesterday, at home in Oceanside.

Born in Easton, Me., Mrs. Gerry had been a resident of California for the past three decades and 10 years ago lived in Santa Ana. Besides Mrs. Ames, she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Iva Masters of Oceanside.
Funeral services will be held at Johnson chapel in Oceanside tomorrow morning. Interment will be made at Riverside Evergreen cemetery.

Husband, 19, Who Deserted Wife and Baby Faces Charge

Withdrawing his defense, Wilbur Hemmingson, 19-year-old Cypress youth, whose wife, he claims, consented to his desertion of her and their baby so that he could take a 17-year-old Cypress girl to Yuma to wed, yesterday pleaded guilty in Superior Judge G. K. Scovel's court, where he faced a statutory charge involving the girl.
He applied for probation and will receive a hearing January 6.
Following his arrest after the trip to Yuma, which stopped short of bigamy but left him involved in the morals charge, Hemmingson pleaded not guilty. Authorities said he told them his wife agreed he should take the other girl.

PUBLIC URGED TO FORWARD FUNDS FOR CHRISTMAS SEALS

Confidence of outstanding success for the 1938 Christmas seal sale was expressed today by A. J. Cruickshank, treasurer of the Orange County Tuberculosis and Health association, who urged the contributing public to forward returns for seals promptly.

Returns from Christmas seals to the drive. There is still time for those who failed to get seals through the mail at Thanksgiving time to obtain and use them on their Christmas mail. You may secure your share by calling or writing to the Orange County Tuberculosis and Health association at 112 West Fifth street, Santa Ana.

Need Funds for Work
"Tuberculosis prevention programs depend upon the money raised in each community," Cruickshank pointed out. "The drafting of budgets for continued work must await completion of campaign quotas. If you have not sent in your money for Christmas seals, please do so now."

"It is a source of gratification that early returns indicate the public's whole-hearted co-operation in the drive."

ORANGE COUNTY'S 'TOM SAWYER' HOME AFTER GREAT ADVENTURE

Orange county's original Tom Sawyer was safe at home today and waiting patiently for Santa Claus on Pomona street in Santa Ana Gardens after an official visit to Orange county jail with his two dog pals.

Mind you now, the county's original Tom Sawyer, Jack Wilson, 9, wasn't under arrest. He merely was a wandering troubadour, found by police and the police, not knowing what to do with him, took him and his canine pals to county jail. There he was guest of honor until his grandma, Jane Wilson, was located.

Turns Up Missing
Jack is four feet tall, weighs 65 pounds, has blue-grey eyes, red hair, freckles and skinned nose. He wears a striped jacket, overalls, has blue, zipper pockets and wears patches on the seat of his pants and on the knee part of his pants. He was found to be missing from home at 9:30 a. m.

Apprised of his disappearance, sheriff's officers sounded the alarm.

California highway patrol officers found him walking along the road—almost in Long Beach. The hour was 2:45 p. m. His dog pals were trudging along beside him.

Gets Tag of Candy
As Jack "Tom Sawyer" Wilson sat in the special guest room at the jail with the two beautiful but shaggy dog pals—which, incidentally, belong to Jack's neighbor—sitting beside him admiringly, Deputy Sheriff Grace Hall presented him with a little bag of candy.

In a little while, the Tom Sawyer of Orange county reached for a piece of candy. "Gee, I'm hungry," he said to his dog companions, whispering. They wanted some. "You'll have to wait for a bone," he declared.

SINGING OF CHRISTMAS CAROLS TRACED TO FRANCIS OF ASSISI

TUCSON, Ariz., Dec. 23.—(UP)—When parties of carolers move through the streets of the nation this Christmas Eve few will stop to wonder what started the practice, but Lew Adams, music director of the city recreation department here, has traced the history of the custom.

The tradition of heralding the nativity with songs started 700 years ago, Adams believes, perhaps for the first time in the Italian village of Greccio near Assisi in the year 1200.

Adams said he has studied the revival of carol singing and has traced its background to find little is actually known of the origin. "It is a curious fact but one well authenticated that Christmas was not among the earliest festivals of the church," Adams said. "Irenaeus and Tertullian omit it from their lists of feasts, and Origen said that in the Scripture, sinners alone—not saints—celebrated their birthdays."

Evidence of Feast
First evidence of the feast of Christmas comes from Egypt, about the year 200 A. D., and after many changes in the time of year for celebrating the Nativity—some as late as May 20—the date decided upon was Dec. 25. In 1083, the term Christmas Maessi was found. From this comes the English word Christmas.

Adams' research revealed that in Greccio the first carol was sung about the year 1200. Francis of Assisi made the first Christmas creche or crib to represent the manger of the Christ Child, and the brethren gathered around and sang hymns.

In later years, Adams said, singing by the clergy was introduced between the scenes of mystery plays, and historical documents give information that the people enjoyed "these vocal interludes."

From these customs, according to Adams, it was only a step to the singing of carols apart from the mysteries and by the 15th century it was common practice to sing carols alone.

After the full meaning of the Christmas idea spread over all Europe, the English people made more of the carols than any others.

Adams said that for many years singing in the streets died, but that now he believes it is "coming back strong as ever."

Program Planned At Local Church

The annual Christmas program at the United Brethren church, West Third and Shelton streets, will be given at 7:30 p. m. today.

The program will consist of music by the church orchestra and a miscellaneous program by children and young people.

A large Christmas tree placed and decorated by the G. G. G. Sunday school class, and their husbands adorn the pulpit platform. And there will be a treat for the children.

Christmas music by the choir will be given Sunday morning at the 11 o'clock services, together with a Christmas sermon by the pastor.

Everyone will be given the opportunity of giving to the poor of the city at this service, the pastor announced.

Vatican Plans Day of Pause On Christmas; Offices To Be Closed

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 23.—(UP)—An exceptional quiet silence will characterize Christmas Day in the Vatican.

All Vatican offices will be closed with the sole exception of the postoffice, which will continue to function, delivering thousands of telegrams, letters and packages conveying Christmas greetings and presents from all corners of the world to Pope Pius XI.

It was uncertain whether the Pope, still suffering from cardiac asthma, would receive the Sacred College of Cardinals which customarily visits the Holy Father the day before Christmas to convey their felicitations. Vatican prelates, however, do not expect that the Pontiff, even if he does receive the cardinals, will make a speech, as he usually does, surveying church affairs during the past year.

To Attend 3 Masses
At midnight on Christmas Eve Pope Pius will attend three special masses recited by Mgr. Carlo Confalonieri in the small chapel adjoining the bedroom. Following Dr. Aminta Milani's instructions, the Pontiff will not leave his bed and will be carefully assisted by his attendants, Friar Faustino and Igino.

Pope Pius will devote his Christmas morning to his large correspondence. His private secretaries, Mgr. Diego Venini and Mgr. Carlo Confalonieri, will read the numerous Christmas messages which have been pouring into the Vatican for the last few days.

According to custom, Mr. Venini will then dispose of the numerous packages containing Christmas candles and sweets which will be distributed to various Catholic institutions for poor children and the aged.

To Receive Relatives
The Pontiff later will receive his relatives. Household intimates believe that the Pope will be happily surprised during this audience, as his niece, Mariade Luisa Perichetti-Ugolini, will be accompanied by her two children dressed in the religious attire of the institute of the newly beatified Mother Cabrini, which they entered last October.

Unless the weather is exceptionally pleasant, the Pope will abandon his automobile ride in the Vatican gardens.

The rest of the afternoon and evening will be spent by the Pope in prayer and meditation. After dinner the Pontiff will recite prayers in his private chapel, beautifully decorated with flowers presented by the Vatican gardeners.

At 10 P.M. Pope Pius will retire to his private apartments.

Vatican prelates say that once Pius recalled with genuine longing the Christmas Days he used to pass in his native Milan, where the streets and rooftops were always covered with snow.

During 17 years continuously spent in the Vatican the Pope has only seen snow once, in 1923, when Christmas morn was accompanied by a heavy snowfall, an unusual occurrence for Rome.

RED CROSS IS GLOBE-GIRDLER

Christmas cheer and good-will of the Junior Red Cross in Orange County has circled the globe, Alfred Higgins, chairman of the Orange county council of Red Cross chapters, revealed today.

Children in China and in war-ravaged Spain will be gladdened by the gifts sent by a large number of Junior Red Cross members who filled Christmas boxes for the National Children's fund.

Headed For China
Early in November over 100 regulation Junior Red Cross Christmas boxes were packed with small gifts that would appeal to any child, such as handkerchiefs, pencils, colored crayons, note books and small toys and sent to the Pacific branch office of the American Red Cross in San Francisco where they joined other hundreds of boxes destined for China. Over 5000 of these gay, special Junior Red Cross Christmas boxes, each carrying ten gifts or more, left the San Francisco port early in November for China, and will be distributed on Christmas day to Chinese children.

The schools in the Anaheim chapter that filled Christmas boxes were: Laurel at Los Alamitos, 5; Loara, 3; Magnolia, 5; and Savanna (number not reported). In Northern Orange county chapter the following schools sent boxes: Laurel school, Brea, 16; Yorba Linda, 5; La Habra, 36; Buena Park, 11, and Fullerton (number not reported). In the Santa Ana chapter, the Tustin grammar school filled four boxes.

Gift From Fund
Children in Spain, through a gift of $1500 from the National

Children's fund of the Junior Red Cross, will receive $160 bars of chocolate, 1500 pounds of hard candy, 14,880 cans of condensed milk, and 25,000 cakes of soap. A special label bearing the greeting in Spanish, "Greetings from the American Junior Red Cross" will appear on each can of milk, on each cake of soap, each bar of chocolate, and on the container in which the hard candy is packed.

These gifts will be distributed to the Spanish children of both sides, by the American Friends committee acting for the International Red Cross committee.

Schools in the county that have made contributions to the National Children's fund are: Garden Grove, Tustin, Huntington Beach, Savanna, Lincoln (Anaheim), and Intermediate in Orange.

Two hundred hand-painted cards made by the Junior Red Cross in the art department in the Santa Ana high school have been sent to the Veterans Facilities hospital at Roseburg, Oregon.

REVEAL DROP IN CAR DEATHS

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 23.—(UP)—Thirty-four California counties had a decreased death toll on rural roads during the first 10 months of 1938, as compared to the same period for 1937, it was reported today by E. Raymond Cato, chief of the California Highway patrol.

Decrease of 175
The combined drop in the 34 counties was 175 deaths. Four other counties had no change in deaths. The standing at the close of the nine month period was 35 counties with a decrease and six without change.

Ventura county was a surprise leader of the rural honor roll counties for having a decrease of 22 deaths. At the end of five months, Riverside led the parade with a decrease of 27, with Ventura in fifth position with 18. Riverside dropped into a tie for second place with San Joaquin with 21 fewer fatalities.

Orange County on Roll
Other leaders in the honor roll list were Imperial, 17; Orange and Yolo, 16; Kings county, 15; Humboldt, 13; San Bernardino and Sacramento, 12; Merced, 10; Los Angeles, 9; Shasta, 7; Kern, 7; Alameda, 3; Sutter, San Diego, and San Benito, 2; Butte, 1; Yuba, 1; Nevada, 1.

Among the counties with no change was Santa Barbara, and Lassen. Representative counties showing increased deaths during the period were Tulare, 12; Fresno, 8; Santa Cruz, 2; Marin, 3; Tehama, 8.

Kings county had the most impressive record with no deaths for 1938, as compared to 15 this time last year. The honor cup, however, is based entirely on volume of decrease. Previous winners were Los Angeles, 1937; San Diego, 1938; Santa Barbara, 1935; Sacramento, 1934; Orange, 1933; Santa Clara, 1932, and Tulare, 1931.

Nab Pharmacist On Court Doorstep

Although James P. Smith, 31-year-old Hollywood pharmacist, won dismissal of a charge that he issued a fictitious check in Orange county, today he faces four similar charges in Modesto.

Smith won dismissal of the charge here before Justice Kenneth Morrison when he entered into an agreement to pay the amount of the check under a provision of the penal code.

But Sheriff G. M. Hogan of Modesto sent a message to Police Chief Floyd W. Howard asking that Smith be held for him. Smith immediately was arrested, before he left Justice Morrison's court. Yesterday he was taken to Modesto for prosecution.

Plastic-bonded plywood was used recently to build a plane. The plane was successfully demonstrated and a plane built this cheaply has possibilities for mass production.

Local Quartets Will Present Christmas Music

Two of the city's outstanding musical organizations, the Santa Ana Elks double quartet, shown in the top picture, and the American Legion Auxiliary quartet, will provide Christmas music in the series that has been heard nightly from the top of the First National Bank building. The Elks group, to be heard at 7 p. m. today, are, left to right, Walt Vieira, Jack Miller, Dr. K. H. Sutherland, Hugh Runnels, G. Willard Bassett, F. L. Gibbs, A. J. Garroway and Lyle Anderson. The Legion quartet, to be presented at 5 p. m. tomorrow, from left to right, are Erma Huffman May, Josephine Lykke, Zola Maag, and Laverne Van Wyk. Miss Ruth Armstrong directs both groups.

Methodist Class In Gift Exchange

GARDEN GROVE, Dec. 23.—Mrs. Paul Applebury entertained members of her Sunday school class of the First Methodist church with a Christmas party at her home Tuesday afternoon.

After a gift exchange the girls enjoyed games, with prizes going to Alma Gene Schreff and Carol German. The hostess served refreshments of red and green jello topped with whipped cream and a cherry and cake at one table decorated in the Christmas theme. Each one received favors of candy canes and chocolate Santa Claus. Present were Betty Lou Noble, ackie Scott, Ella Mae Rogers, Carol German, Dorothy Schneider, Joy Holt, Barbara Eggleton, Mollie Doig, Alma Gene Schreff, Winifred Chaffee and Wesley Applebury.

A recent survey of the taxes on tires shows that the consumer now pays taxes amounting to about $5 for every set of tires for the average passenger car.

UNUSUAL PROGRAMS TO CLIMAX CHRISTMAS MUSIC BROADCASTS

Two of the city's outstanding musical organizations will wind up the program of Christmas music to be presented to-night and tomorrow night from the top of the First National Bank building.

The program tonight, starting at 7 p. m., will be sponsored by the Santa Ana Elks lodge and will feature the music of the championship double quartet of the organization under the direction of Miss Ruth Armstrong. Two soloists from the lodge, Willard Bassett and Hugh Runnels will also be presented by William Garvin, exalted ruler, who will serve as master of ceremonies.

Breakfasters in Charge
Tomorrow night at five o'clock the Santa Ana Breakfast club will be in charge of the program and will have as the featured attraction the music of the American Legion Auxiliary quartet, also directed by Miss Armstrong. Special numbers will be presented by the Musical Arts club during the hour-long period, including solos by Holly Las Visel, Pearl Livesey and Cecil Fross Willis.

Eddie Marble, song leader of the Breakfast club, will be the announcer for the program.

EMPLOYEES OF CITY HOLD YULE AFFAIR

The first annual Christmas party of Santa Ana city employees and their families under sponsorship of the City Employees association was held last night at the American Legion hall with 350 men, women and children present.

The event, arranged by General Chairman Harold Rasmussen and his committeemen, presented a vaudeville program, Christmas tree party for the children, refreshments, including sandwiches, coffee, ice cream, apples, nuts and candy. Dancing to the music of the Earl Lentz and Charles Hurd orchestra followed the serving of refreshments.

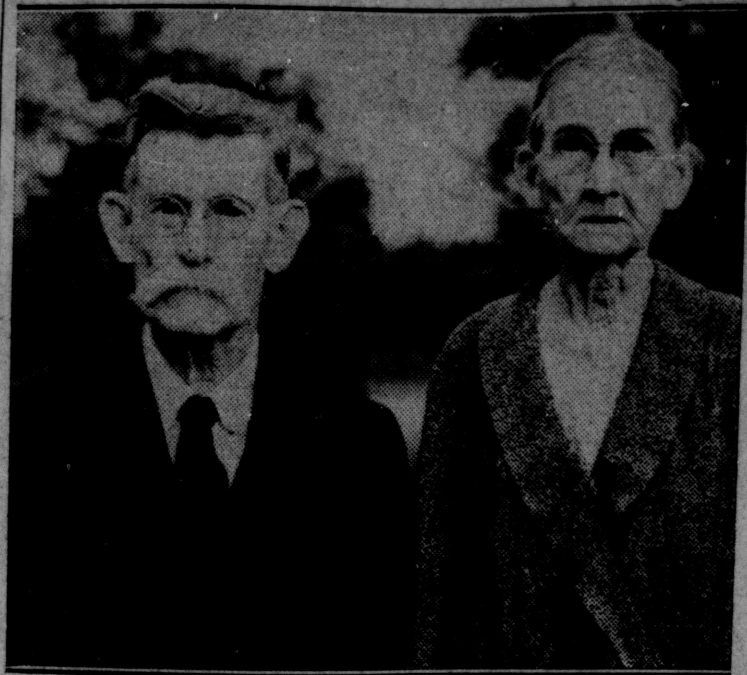

Those who entertained included music, local talent and one professional dog act from Los Angeles. Professor George Cortello of Hollywood put his acrobatic dogs through a delightful routine which included impersonations of movie actors. The dogs, musically minded, were accompanied by Frank Chapman, city employee, at the piano.

Local talent who entertained included Miss Carroll Miller, presenting two humorous readings; and a Christmas theme reading; the Santa Ana Junior college trumpet quartet, consisting of Milton Asher, Vic Allenman, Gilman Brookings and Frank Lindgren and Virgil Watkins and Clyde Riggan, accordionists from the Blue-Note Music company, who presented duets. Funds for the party were taken from the association treasury.

children, Harvey Arnett and a cousin, Earl Arnett Jr., of Oakdale, go north for Christmas, the party to divide the time between Oakdale and Firebaugh with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Arnett are spending Christmas at San Bernardino as the guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Platt.

Honor Couple On Anniversary

Open house was held today in honor of Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Hickey who were married 50 years ago. They have resided at their present home near Garden Grove since 1910.

CLUB ENTERTAINED

TUSTIN, Dec. 23.—Members of the Tustin American Legion auxiliary sewing club shared a delightful Christmas party recently in the new home of Mrs. Ona Hunter in Long Beach. At noon, a potluck luncheon was enjoyed. A gift exchange, sewing and visiting occupied the guests. A beautiful Christmas tree decorated the living room.

Present were Mesdames Charles Logan, Cadett Hamilton, Marie Vandenberg, Orville Johnson, Eva Holford, Laura Marks, Louis Riehl, Grace Daniels, Dwight Hayden, Bertha Eaton, Vera Park, Dolly Holford, Gertrude Cleary, Pauline Cleary, Ona Hunter, C. Williams, Pearly Flower and Miss Forestine Hunter.

CITY TO SEEK NEW BUILDING

LAGUNA BEACH, Dec. 23.—With Christmas business at its highest peak in history, the local post office is handling the largest volume of business on its records, according to Postmaster Ada E. Purpus.

Despite cramped quarters and lack of space and facilities commensurate with the town's rapid growth, all work is being done on schedule, with over 18,000 pieces of outgoing mail cancelled daily. By closing time tomorrow, all work will be overtaken, because of extension of business hours at windows, Mrs. Purpus said. Delivery of gift packages will be made to homes on Christmas day.

With the New Year, vigorous representations will be made to the Post Office department and to Congressman Harry Sheppard, looking towards construction of a building to house Laguna's heavy postal business figures for which, compared over many quarterly periods, show a steady increase.

Legion Groups In Yule Affair

TUSTIN, Dec. 23.—The annual turkey dinner and Christmas program for members of the Tustin American Legion and auxiliary and their children was attended by nearly 115 persons at the lodge hall recently. The dinner was arranged by Mrs. Leroy Wilson, chairman, and Mesdames Vera Park, Gertrude Cleary, Arthur Smith, Bertha Eaton and Beulah Hamilton.

Mrs. Dolly Holford had arranged the program which included readings by Rodrick Cleary, Joyce Holford and Janet Curli, a song by Marilyn Humeston and Jean Matson, dances by Sharon Carnahan, Eloise Jacobs, Marilyn Humeston and Virginia Hellis and a tumbling act by children of the Wagner studio. A one-act Christmas play was presented by Joyce Holford, Marjorie Hale, Janet Curli, Barbara Young and Irene Pope.

As a climax to the evening's merriment, Santa Claus arrived with candy for each person present.

It is estimated by experts that out of 100,000 persons in the United States, 30 are killed annually by motor cars.

Through the Garden Gate

With MARAH ADAMS

A primrose on my window sill is a great deal more than just a primrose to me. It was given to me by a friend two years ago at Christmas time and there scarcely has been an interval since when it has not been in bloom.

Flowers and plants are such lasting reminders of friendship and affection. There are the broad-leaved, jade-green bird's nest ferns, the ornamental dracaena, the cyclamens, the crotons, the poinsettias, begonias, anemones and this year three lovely vegetables are being offered as house plants.

"Lovely" as a term for a vegetable does not seem so absurd when you have seen the pots of flowering cabbage the nurseries are showing. The delicacy of the curled leaves, the faint lavender and the white and green of the plant make it one that lends itself admirably to arrangements. Flowering cabbage combined with silver leaves is a Christmas centerpiece to be remembered.

Pots of small red peppers are especially appropriate for Christmas gifts, the peppers ranging from green, to white and to red in the various stages of maturity. So here is another "lovely" vegetable. The tomato as a house plant is newer than either of the others and the plant is covered with miniature yellow tomatoes, giving a most colorful effect.

Poinsettias offered as Christmas gifts are nearly all of the double variety even if they look single. It takes about two blooming seasons or more for a double poinsettia to become truly double. It starts out by adding a few extra bracts to the number flaunted by the single variety, and keeps getting more and more ambitious as the years go on.

Many people have an idea that a cyclamen plant is just for a season. Not Clyde Patton, Santa Ana high school instructor, however, who last year bought up all the extra bulbs Russell Adkinson had left over after Christmas. Patton planted these on the north side of his Louise street home and according to Mr. Adkinson, he has cyclamens that rival a nursery display. The plants have been in bloom since September.

All of the nurseries are showing pansies in bloom and a basket of pansies is a rose bush that will keep blooming for years to come will be a welcome gift to any gardener.

Gardeners are so generous by nature, so eager to share their gardens with others, that all gifts of plants are sure to divide and then divide again and to find their way into many gardens and homes.

Orange County Gardening

By Mrs. H. Cardozo Sloan, Corona Del Mar

Being sound advice and interesting comment on what to plant and how to care for Orange county gardens.

O TANNEBAUM!

We have just finished decorating our Christmas tree. Its top touches the ceiling, its woody fragrance fills the room, its green boughs are spreading far beneath the gleam and glitter of our gilded ornaments. True, the glitter has almost departed from many of the trinkets. Some of the silver stars are tarnished, the green and gold of the little ball is faded and duller, a pair of birds once so gallant and gay are minus their tails. But what these have lost in beauty to the outward eye is more than compensated by the intimate association of by-gone Christmases, so that to the inner vision they gleam more brilliantly than even in their pristine freshness.

It is our custom after the tree is trimmed to salute it with a song. Outside tonight the wind surges through the eucalyptus trees and the rain beats against the window panes. Within our little room the Christmas tree spreads its green branches as though in blessing upon our home, while in the fireplace another tree, blazing merrily, brings its cheer and comfort to our hearts. And so we sing (fairly strong as to the piano, but a bit weak on the vocalizing) that lovely Christmas Song from the German, "O, Tannebaum!"

"O verdant pine, O verdant pine, Tell a joyful story!
When Nature sleeps in winter's chill,
You bring us tidings of goodwill,
O verdant pine, O verdant pine,
You tell a joyous story!"

O verdant pine, O verdant pine,
With you 'tis always springtime!
When Christmas bells ring on the air,
Your spreading boughs are green and fair,
O verdant pine, O verdant pine,
With you 'tis always springtime!

O verdant pine, O verdant pine,
From you we'll learn a lesson,
That Truth and Love can never die,
Though darkest clouds may dim the sky,
O verdant pine, O verdant pine,
From you we'll learn a lesson.

A little while ago, at the time of the first rain, when the air was fresh and sweet and the sky piled with lovely cloud masses, we drove through Capistrano and San Juan Hot Springs over the Ortega highway. Where the road turns down the eastern side of the hills we paused to enjoy the magnificent view. Hummed by mountains the valley rested in quiet beauty before us. The warm gold of autumn lay on the orchard trees. In the windless air the lake was like a mirror. Patches of it were blue as the sky, most of it, in the thin cloud shadows, was tinted like a pale opal. The air was almost far as economy is concerned.

A delightful book, "Gardening Indoors", was written several years ago by F. F. Rockwell and Esther C. Grayson. Among other interesting things the authors tell how to raise house plants from seed. It has many illustrations and drawings.

How proud Joel Roberts Poinsett, first minister to Mexico would be could he visit this world at Christmas time and see the thousands of Poinsettia blooms. Poinsett brought a few cuttings of the plant from Mexico to his home in South Carolina about 1830. The brilliant scarlet leaves are not petals and the flower is in the tiny yellow centers. The botanical name for the plant is Euphorbia Pulcherrima.

Californians and residents of other southern states with poinsettias growing house high, love the scarlet Christmas blossom but it is doubtful if they get the same thrill from the dozens of flowers in their yards, as the dweller in the east or middle west who cherishes a single poinsettia plant with its one great red star like blossom.

All the recent rain turns thoughts to gardening operations and packages of flower seeds, daintily wrapped will be very acceptable gifts.

A real western Christmas wreath has been made by Lorenz Trost, assistant secretary at the Orange Building and Loan association. Trost has a new home at 1400 East Chapman avenue, and in the front yard a large, old wagon wheel has been transformed into a wreath by covering it with colored lights. The wheel leans on a wall near a lily pond of unusual beauty. Softly colored lights are concealed at the edge of the pond and are reflected in the black mirror made by the water.

"Through the Garden Gate" for members of a little bridge playing group, will come an array of posies and odd goods all next summer, as result of Christmas gift that may give others a "last minute" gift idea. It was the brilliant plan of Mrs. Neal Stanley, to choose a progressive gift for one of her club members, Mrs. Henry Williams, a gardening enthusiast.

The first gaily-wrapped package contained unusual flower seeds, including the afore-mentioned gourds. Later arrived a second box, equally colorful in wrappings. Within were dozens of wired flower markers, all ready to letter and attach. Finally came the third and last package — mysteriously long and round. Within it were innumerable long sections of bamboo, ready to be broken into any desired length—in all, a collection for any "Complacent Gardener."

breathlessly still. I have never looked upon a scene which seemed so steeped in their quietness and peace.

There is a bronze tablet at this point—You remember it—upon which is inscribed the dedication of the highway to Jose Francisco Ortega, a member of the Spanish expedition of Father Serra's time. I thought of those long-ago days. Did Ortega pass this way? Did Father Serra himself stand among the rocks and stunted bushes on this very spot and gaze out over the valley, perhaps on just such a day of peaceful beauty?

It may be they did. And it may be that they were weary, that they were troubled, that the wound in Father Serra's leg was painful, that the way looked dark and difficult before them. But they had courage, they had faith. The vision to which they were dedicated did not perish in their hearts; in its service their lives were gladly spent. And somewhere today their souls are triumphantly marching on.

Now other humans stand on the mountainside and look over the lovely valley, with hearts troubled and anxious because of great wealth which seems laid upon the whole world.

The thought came to me there, and must often come to all of us, that we lay too much stress upon the tribulations of this life. That the darkness of a multitude of things material oft obscures the light of things unseen, that pure light of the spiritual which shines for man's guidance and sustenance.

There is a little verse which often comes to my mind—
"Hold fast to dreams,
For when dreams go,
Life is a barren waste,
Frozen with snow."

One can dream only when deep within the heart is a reliance upon a sustaining power, a faith that right will ultimately triumph over wrong.

And so this Christmas tide, my wish for you, dear Fellow Gardeners, is that you may hold fast to dreams, that you may know, in the words of our Christmas tree song, the Truth and Love can never die, and that the flower of Faith may bloom ever in your hearts.

Goodnight, Friends—and "Merry Christmas."

STATE BOASTS TALLEST TREE IN THE WORLD

Speaking of trees, there's this to be remembered—that the tallest tree in the world is here in the West. A few weeks back some brash fellow put out a newspaper release claiming that the tallest tree was really in Australia—and things began to hum. California's Regional Forester, S. B. Show, of the U. S. Forest Service, rushed to the defense.

The tallest tree in Australia, said he, is a eucalyptus in Victoria, New South Wales, and that's only 325 feet tall. Here in the West is the Founders' Tree, a giant redwood named in honor of the founders of the Save-the-Redwoods League. It's 364 feet high and the tallest tree known. "We'll back up that contention with anyone," says Mr. Show.

The Founders' tree is located in the Humboldt State Redwood park, near Dyerville, Calif. And besides that, there's another redwood on Bull Creek Flat which is 345 feet tall. So either way, the West's the winner.

If you want to be prepared for arguments about trees (just in case you meet an Australian), Mr. Show suggests that you get a copy of "Famous Trees." It's an official Forest Service document that gives all the facts about the biggest and oldest trees. It's available now from the Superintendent of Documents in Washington, D. C., for 15 cents.—Sunset Magazine.

College Students Guests Of Circle

GARDEN GROVE, Dec. 23.—College students home for the Christmas vacation were honored at a Christmas party given Tuesday evening by the missionary circle and young people of the Baptist church at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Special gifts were presented to the honored guests and toys brought for a gift exchange will be sent to a children's home. Refreshments of chocolate nut sundae, cake and coffee were served at small tables to the following: Mr. and Mrs. John Lehnhardt, the Rev. and Mrs. William Keech, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Henry, the Misses Betty and Ruth Lehnhardt, Gladys Cockerham, Mildred Weaver, Dixie Emmons, Zelma Riley, Jennie Hedstrom, Phyllis Shreeves, Dorothy Knapp, Florence Wickliffe, Frances Hammon, Archie, Joe and Ben Allen, Ralph Fury, Harold Darling, Leroy Christensen, Robert Echols, Roy Gorman and Dale Miller, Ralph Michelson, Earl Henry, of Garden Grove; Miss Madelyn Sherwood, of Fullerton, and Miss Florence Corb, of Richmond.

Laguna Children To Be Entertained

LAGUNA BEACH, Dec. 23.—Under joint auspices of the Lions club and American Legion post 22, 400 children from the local elementary school will be given a pre-Christmas party tonight at the high school auditorium.

Parents are invited and the proceedings will be over by 9 o'clock. Full committees of Lions, Lady Lions, Legionnaires and auxiliary members will handle the evening's proceedings, which promise to be outstanding.

Fragrant Tree

This Christmas tree is a fragrant affair. It is trimmed entirely with little disks of perfume. Beside the perfume there is an electric cord and tiny lights.

Unusual Use for Wheels Found Here

Three big wagon wheels have been put to an unusual use in the summer house and out of door living room at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Moralle, 924 West 17th street. The structure is just in the making at the attractive new home. The use of brick in the yard is especially interesting. In the summer house it has been employed to form a low wall on one side of the grill. Bricks are placed in such a way as to leave openings. Mr. and Mrs. Moralle are interested in gathering beautiful rocks and those in the grill are interesting both from a geological as well as from a standpoint of beauty. Bricks and beautiful rock are being used to build a wishing well and for garden paths.

PLANT LETTUCE OF VARIED TYPES FOR SALAD CHANGES

The basis for every bowl salad consists of green leaves. Novelty and change are desirable in the diet so it is a mistake to get into the habit of using the same materials for salads all the year around.

Since head lettuce has become available every month in the year, there is great temptation to let the salad course become a routine matter of a slice or wedge of head lettuce, spattered with dressing. After a period of this, the palate becomes somewhat weary, perhaps inclined to regard the salad course as health food, rather than a tempting, delicious treat, as it should be.

To the home gardener, who can spare a few square feet of garden space for producing leaves, an interesting salad program is possible. First there is leaf lettuce, so different from the heading type that it seems another vegetable. It excels in flavor, it takes the dressing better, and the doctors say its green leaves are far richer in vitamin A.

Leaf lettuce comes in two types—the butter leaves, and the crisp leaves. The butter leaves are thicker, and darker green, with finer flavor, the experts say. Crisp leaves are lighter green in color, thin and somewhat brittle. Examples are Black Seeded Simpson, a butter type, and Grand Rapids, a crisp leaf type. Experts give first place in their esteem to the butter leaves.

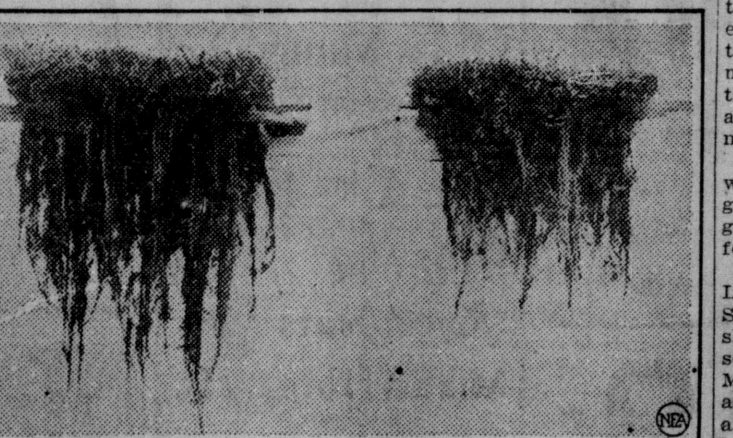

Romaine or còs lettuce, which produces oval leaves, standing upright, is highly esteemed by French salad experts. It is a good late lettuce, standing heat better than the leaf varieties. The leaves can be bleached by tying them up as they near maturity, but this merely changes their color, and lessens their vitamin content.

COS LETTUCE IS A REAL DELICACY

All leaf crops demand rich soil. They must grow fast without check, otherwise the leaves are tough and have a bitter flavor. Plant food should be applied to the soil in which they grow at the rate of 4 pounds to 100 square feet.

Lawn Needs Proper Attention

Too bad you can't see underground to tell how your lawn is growing. Specimen at left shows how deeply rooted becomes grass that has been well watered and properly cut, as against grass, at right, that was cut too close and insufficiently watered.

Mixing Bowl BY ANN MEREDITH

Take a family straw vote on the question of dessert for Christmas dinner. The vote will probably show one-fifth asking for pie or plum pudding, and four-fifths voting solidly for ice cream and fruit cake. The fruit cake you already have, so the burning issue is, what flavor will we select for ice cream? There are the plain flavors of vanilla, lemon and chocolate but how about a RUM flavored ice cream?

You may order it from a confectioner, or make it at home. For convenience use one of the ice cream powder bases, the basic flavor, vanilla. For dessert for eight use these ingredients:
Rum Ice Cream
1 box of vanilla ice cream powder mixed to directions on box.
3 egg yolks beaten with 1-2 cup sugar, then with the mixed base.
2 egg whites beaten stiff
1-4 cups heavy cream, whipped almost stiff
1-2 cup chopped pecans
1-3 cup rum, or rum flavoring as required.

Assuming that the base has been mixed and beaten with egg yolks, fold in whipped cream and egg whites, alternating the two. Stir in pecans and quickly whisk the rum or flavoring through the fluffy cream. Smooth it into the freezing pan and do not disturb in any way while freezing. If you freeze it in a hand freezer it will be just that much nicer, but the refrigerator version isn't hard to take, and is almost as smooth as the freezer variety.

Get rid of the extra pounds you've taken on this month by using our diet. Write for a copy of the leaflet (3 diets) enclosing a stamped, addressed envelope.

TODAY'S RECIPES
Crown Roasts
These roasts are actually

baked chops, done all in one piece. The fact that we do not have them more frequently is due in part to cost and to reluctance on the butcher's part to take time to prepare the roast. Young pork or lamb make the best crown roast, but veal can also be attractive. For such roasts you will need about 20 ribs (20 thin chops) cut in two sections. Lay the sections flat, scrape off all meat on rib ends and crown ends with cubes of the salt pork. Turn sections over and with sharp knife cut half way through the meat towards the bone. Sew the two sections together to form a well, then those denuded rib tops until the chop part is reached. There, you stop and dust the chops with salt and pepper. Tie the crown part securely with strong cord to hold in shape and roast in a very hot oven, allowing about 20 minutes to the pound. Baste frequently. Fill center with a fluffy mound of mashed potatoes (remove pork tips) and garnish with wreath of parsley.

Cauliflower Paprika
2 heads of cauliflower, cut into flowerets
Juice of an lemon in cooking water with 1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons brown butter
4 tablespoons mayonnaise, salt pepper, and much paprika.
—my recipe

Cook vegetables rapidly and drain in colander. Return to kettle, toss in brown butter while seasoning. Add mayonnaise, mix carefully, add a little paprika, turn into serving dish and top with paprika and chopped parsley.

HOW TO PRUNE ROSES IS TOLD

Now that we have had a few frosts, gardeners will be giving thought soon to pruning roses. While each variety of rose, and even each individual plant presents its own problem, there are a few general rules to guide the beginner, says an authority.

Pruning is done primarily for two purposes. To stimulate the growth of new food on which flowers are borne and to keep the plant shapely and within bounds. Most amateur rosarians fail to prune roses heavily enough.

When a rosebush comes from a nursery it should be cut back to three heavy branches of about six inches each. At the end of the first growing season the new growth on these branches should be thinned out and one or two laterals three to six inches long left to each branch. A somewhat similar cutting back and thinning out should be done each year thereafter. Occasionally an old main branch may be removed in favor of a strong new cane starting fairly low on the bush. Prune out crossing and interfering branches and keep the center of the bush open to admit sunlight.

Slanting Cut
Use sharp shears to avoid crushing branches; make a slanting cut, about one-fourth inch above an eye or bud. If the cut is too close to the eye, the new branch may break off easily; if too far from the bud, the wood above the eye will die back causing the wound to heal slowly and perhaps permitting decay to start in the branch.

Should shoots or suckers come from below the bud union, they should be cut off cleanly, as they come from the wild stock on which the rose is grown and will produce worthless flowers. If permitted to grow unchecked these suckers will eventually choke out the top growth.

Certain rose bushes having very soft wood, such as golden emblem and angelo pernet, should not be pruned too early. These roses have a tendency to die back during winter if pruned early, but if pruning is delayed until February, the cuts heal over quickly. Most roses, however, should be pruned in December and January for best results.

It is a good idea to give rose bushes a winter cleanup spray of Bordo or lime-sulphur after all dead leaves and branches have been raked up and burned.

New Varieties
It is time to think about new additions to the rose garden now. One of the best new roses being offered this year for the first time is golden state, the official rose of the Golden State International exposition. This new rose originated in France, where it won a gold medal, as "the most beautiful rose in France." It also won a gold medal at the International Rose Test Gardens in Portland, Ore.

In early spring, the color is clear lemon yellow and becomes darker as the season advances until it reaches a deep golden yellow in autumn. Being an extra strong grower and a heavy producer of blooms it is especially fine for garden use. Those who like long-stemmed roses for cutting will like the 12 to 18-inch stems provided by this new rose. McGrady's yellow is another fine

SURVEY REVEALS WHAT DEER EATS

TUCSON, Ariz. — Mistletoe and oak galls are favorite foods of deer. Others are cactus fruit, wild grapes, and acorns. A deer will not bite with its front teeth if it can be avoided, and prefers to feed with its front feet up, says the Christian Science Monitor.

Such are some curious discoveries made in a five-year feeding test with Arizona whitetail and mule deer, conducted by Dr. A. A. Nichol for the University of Arizona in the Santa Rita mountains 40 miles south of Tucson.

The deer, about 40 altogether, were confined in spacious pens and fed every kind of plant that grows in the vicinity, as well as distant points. It was found that a deer will eat almost anything a horse or cow finds palatable, and many more things.

Among the trees, they like aspen leaves best. Hackberry, cherry oak, and walnut leaves are important in their diet. They will turn from almost anything to mistletoe, especially the broad-leaf kind. Oak galls, which are nothing but pithy cellulose scorned by other animals, are greatly relished.

So far as is known, this is the first time it was observed that deer work food back into the mouth and bite it off with their molars. Why they like to have their front feet higher than their hind feet while browsing is merely one of the many mysteries that Dr. Nichol was unable to solve.

Apparently deer have an unerring instinct which causes them to reject anything harmful.

Object of the test was to determine how much range feed a deer will consume. In confinement the experimental deer ate 2.22 pounds daily for each 100 pounds of body weight, and Dr. Nichol thinks it likely that they eat about 2.35 pounds when running at large. His conclusion is that a whitetail deer will eat as much as a sheep, a mule deer as much as two sheep. On the other hand, much of the forage they consume is not utilized by domestic animals.

No Money Is Made By Plow Inventor

MORAVIA, N. Y. (UP)—Like many a pioneer in the field of invention, the inventor of the first cast-iron plow, John Jethrow Wood, made no money out of it, and his descendants have never been able to profit by patent rights.

Wood invented the plow here in 1814. He first sent it to the czar of Russia, with a letter in French written by a friend. The czar was highly pleased with the plow and sent Wood a ring valued at $7000 to $15,000. But Wood did not receive the stone.

Manufacturers infringed on his patent rights, and a long legal battle began which did not end in Wood's life time. His son finally won, but the victory was only a technical one, for the son died shortly after. All in all, Wood never made $500 on his plow—less than he had spent to perfect it.

new yellow rose that is becoming increasingly popular. Crimson glory is a new red rose with big, fully double flowers of dark rich color with fragrance.

The PAYOFF

BY HARRY GRAYSON
(NEA Service Sports Editor)

Bill Korn can't understand how David O'Brien completed 92 forward passes out of 167 attempts . . . better than 55 per cent . . . and 19 for touchdowns.

Kern . . . Carnegie Tech's blond coach of the year . . . the most formidable tackle Dr. Jack Sutherland ever drilled at Pittsburgh . . . talks as though he suspects little Davey O'Brien was not rushed to any great extent.

He insists that he is more worried about the Texas Christian running game in the New Orleans Sugar Bowl, Jan. 2, than O'Brien's passes.

"That is one reason why we stick to our orthodox 6-2-2 defense," says Kern.

T. C. U. will outweight Carnegie Tech nearly 100 pounds per man up front. The Horned Frogs have a fullback in Connie Sparks, who packs a lot of drive at 195 pounds. The 150-pound O'Brien is a no slouch as a carrier . . . off tackle or around end . . . behind the gigantic captain and tackle, Insull B. Hale.

But to get back to O'Brien's phenomenal passing, there are two ways to render aerial fire ineffective. One is to borrow a man from the line . . . reinforce the secondary . . . try to cover every receiver.

That's too much like locking the door after the horse is loose to suit Kern.

Tartans Won't Give O'Brien Time to Look For Targets

A smart receiver with a change of pace and the knack of cutting can fake a defense man into a false move.

One step is all a receiver like large Don Looney of Texas Christian needs to get on the man assigned to him.

A team that permits a bunch of eligible men to get in the open and gives the passer time to wind up is dabbling with dynamite.

It takes 10 years off my life to watch my defenders try to take a pass out of a receiver's arms," asserts Kern. "By timing his break just right the pass catcher can slip the players covering him."

The other way to break up an overhead attack is to choke it at its source.

That is the Carnegie Tech system. That is what the Skibos hope to do against the fabulous O'Brien.

"They tell me O'Brien is a cool, levelheaded little cuss who takes his time before letting go a pass," explains Kern. "I don't know if those Texas teams and Marquette, Temple, Tulsa and Centenary rushed him hard, but my kids won't give Dave any time to look around for targets."

"We've got a couple of ends who bust in there and hurry things."

"I'm counting on Striegel and Fisher to keep on top of O'Brien."

"Maybe he won't be so cool when he finds those fellows on his neck."

Kern Can't See Advantage of 5-3-2 Defense Against Passes

Another point which Carnegie Tech intends to take full advantage of is the fact that it is legal to knock down potential receivers before a pass actually develops.

Kern believes in preventing ends from getting out where they can catch a heave.

He never did agree with those who claim that a 5-3-2 defense is the surest antidote for an air raid.

"With that setup you can't rush the passer or pin the offensive ends down," he explains.

His guess is that the 5-3-2 defense is stronger against running plays than passes.

Texas Christian may have the greatest one-man team overhead, but Carnegie Tech has four passers . . . all about on a par.

Carmely and Condit loomed 40-yard end-zone touchdowns against Pitt.

Kern and others who have trailed Carnegie Tech wouldn't be surprised if the Tartans beat the Horned Frogs at their own game of hurling leather.

Bill Kern admits the possibility of Davey O'Brien making Carnegie Tech look as foolish as the others, but declares that the football player of the year will have to accomplish such a remarkable feat without excess time for reconnoitering.

CONNIE CALLS 1938 FRANKS ALL TIME BEST

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—The oldest man in baseball, Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, celebrated his 76th birthday today and said his fondest hope was for "just one more great club."

Actually, gaunt, grey-haired Connie's birthday was yesterday but he's been celebrating this day so long he doesn't want to change. It was only last year that he learned from town hall records in East Brookfield, Mass., that he was born on Dec. 22.

The man who has led teams to nine American league pennants and five world series victories since 1901, admitted that his club next year won't be a world beater; that it is strictly a second division outfit. But he still hopes he'll have one more winner.

"Everyone but myself seems to think of my retirement," he said. "I never felt better and there is nothing in baseball I dislike. I still like traveling with the team and I haven't lost my desire for the game."

Mack said he looks to 1939 as a banner year because the American league finally has approved night baseball. He figured both Philadelphia clubs would benefit more than anyone else with a total of 14 night games there—7 American league games and 7 in the National.

Mack reiterated his belief that the New York Yankees constitute the greatest team the game has ever known—"they are just a little superior to the three I formerly felt were the best. These were the Baltimore Orioles of 1893-94, the Chicago Cubs of 1906 to 1910 and the Athletics of 1910 to 1915 who won four pennants in five years."

"And what did Mack attribute his own success to?"

"Enthusiasm—both mine and my players."

Esposa, Great Mare, Due At Santa Anita

SANTA ANITA—The great mare, Esposa, reaches here tomorrow for the impending meeting of the Los Angeles Turf club. Trainer Matt Brady is bringing in four head of the stable of William Ziegler of New York. Besides Esposa, the expected arrivals are Blaze of Glory, Amersa and the good two-year-old, Our Matt.

Esposna ranks as third in the money-winning list of all American mares, only being topped by Top Flight and Princess Doreen. The famous Zeigler color-bearer has earned the staggering sum of $131,255 in four years of racing, having entered the winner's circle 20 times.

As a two-year-old she won $5935, at three $6570, at four $50,670, and this last racing season $41,075.

Esposna has, at one time or another, beaten most of the top horses of the country. In 1937 she conquered Seabiscuit in the Bowie Handicap, setting a new track record for the one mile and five-eighths, going that distance in 2:45 and 1-5. She ran War Admiral a nose this summer at Saratoga.

She won the Hawthorne Gold Cup this summer by three lengths. Esposna will carry the Zeigler silks in the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap.

Don Roberto, the California giant, has checked in at Santa Anita for what will be his last season of flat racing. One of the best of the home-breds when at the height of his form, Don will be put over the jumps and raced through the field following this winter season.

Tommy Griffin reports that the good mare, Primulus, is going sound again, following her long rest since the Hollywood park meeting.

The California Horse Racing board has opened offices at Santa Anita and started the work of registrations in preparation for the opening of the racing season on Saturday of next week. Every one participating in the meeting must have a license and be under the jurisdiction of the state body.

Last season 2,738 licenses for the Santa Anita meeting were issued. Prospects are that as many, or more, will be the order. To give an idea of the number in each group, the following figures for last season are given: 403 owners, 238 trainers, 82 jockeys, 24 officials, 292 exercise boys, 100 authorized agents, 27 apprentice riders, 709 grooms, 147 miscellaneous, 766 parimutuel clerks.

Returns are starting to come in for the Santa Anita Handicap press pool. Sports editors and turf writers all over the country have been asked to pick the likely one-two-three. Opinion seems to center on Stagedhand and Seabiscuit, who finished nose apart in the last running. Increased weight evidently is not figured to stop the pair. Ligero and Specity are getting some calls for the first place and the crack two-year-olds, Porter's Mite and Xalapa Clown, are in high favor with others.

Rains of the past week figured to have a beneficial effect on the Santa Anita track. It is heavy, now, but with a couple days of sunshine will dry out and be put into tip-top condition. The track has set-

APOSTOLI-KRIEGER BOUT DUE IN MARCH

NEW YORK (UP)—The middle-weight championship muddle may be settled in March when the two title claimants meet in Madison Square Garden, it was indicated today.

Freddie Apostoli of San Francisco is recognized as champion in New York and California, while Solly Krieger of New York holds the National Boxing association's crown.

Hymie Caplin, Wrieger's manager, said today he would accept a match with Apostoli in March to settle the issue.

Results of a petition and ballot of the student body show that Long Island University will have a football team next season for the first time in the institution's history.

DUKE SPECIAL ROLLS TO L. A.

LUBBOCK, Tex.—Duke University's football players rolled westward on their special train again today, hopeful that the workout they had yesterday on the field of the undefeated Texas Tech team would bring them luck.

Duke and Tech players had a lot in common, since both teams are unbeaten and untied and both are bound for a post-season bowl game. The Blue Devils of North Carolina are heading for the Rose Bowl at Pasadena and the Red Raiders of the Plains are bound for the Cotton Bowl at Dallas.

Wallace Wade, Duke coach, put the Blue Devils through routine kicking, passing, blocking and limbering-up exercises. He said that Mahoney, sophomore tackle who has been ill, was feeling better and probably would be ready to play when the team gets to California. Wade said he was pleased with the way the players were standing the long trip.

JONES GLOOMY AGAIN

LOS ANGELES—Gloom chased the sunshine from the face of Coach Howard Jones again today. He admitted he had been whistling in the dark while preparing his Southern California Trojans for their Rose Bowl game against Duke.

His assignment was so tough, he said, because he had been unable to get enough details on the Blue Devils' offensive play. After all including Duke's offense from newsreels and his varsity stopped the single wingback plays as executed by shock troops.

With the Trojan offensive set to break through Duke's unscathed line, Jones took his charges out and schooled them thoroughly on all phases of the single wingback—straight, hipper-dipper and passes. However, he ordered that the scrimmage be light because the squad is in perfect condition and he wants no more injuries.

Results of a petition and ballot of the student body show that Long Island University will have a football team next season for the first time in the institution's history.

NOTED NATURALIST TO TAKE PART IN BOY SCOUT PROGRAM

Announcement has just been made by the chairman of the All County Court of Honor committee, Judge Kenneth E. Morrison, and the chairman of the District 5 Court of Honor committee, Kenneth Kessler, that Bert Harwell, nationally known park naturalist, will be one of the main attractions the evening of February 4 at the Fullerton Union High school auditorium, when Boy Scouts from all Orange county will gather to receive their achievement awards.

Bird Whistler
Harwell has throughout the past few years made a name for himself not only as a naturalist but as the most outstanding bird whistler and imitator in the entire service. It was said by Kessler. Harwell has given performances throughout the United States.

Other celebrities who are to assist in the program will be announced by Kessler at a later date. The court of honor is an evening which is always looked forward to by Boy Scouts who are working toward the higher honors in scouting, Kessler said.

At this court only those boys from the first class rank on up are to be honored. From all indications the largest number of boys to receive the First Class, Star, Life and Eagle awards at one time will be presented. There will be no charge for the program.

The committee is composed of Judge Kenneth E. Morrison, Santa Ana, chairman; Kenneth Kessler, Fullerton, vice chairman; Kenneth Peck, Anaheim; President M. E. Wellington, Santa Ana, and H. M. Bergen, Fullerton, chairman of district five.

ARRANGE FAMILY DINNER
SMELTZER, Dec. 23.—Relatives will be guests Christmas day of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Murdy Jr. and their family members, the Misses Dorothy and Maxine Murdy and Jack Murdy. Among the guests will be an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Evans, and Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Hemrod and daughter, of Long Beach; sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hillis and children, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Stephenson and children and J. M. Stephenson Jr. and family, all of Los Angeles.

The first successful "stratosphere" airplane was recently accepted by the Army Air Corps.

Camp Boys Add Bulge To Pack Santa Will Carry To Poor, Needy

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—(UP)—The Civilian Conservation Corps is playing Santa Claus this year.

Besides adding to the general Christmas cheer by making the routine family contribution of $25 a month, a large number of the 300,000 CCC enrollees made toys and planned other Christmas surprises for needy families.

For several months many CCC boys in their handicraft courses have been turning out toys for local needy children. Toys were made from salvaged lumber, fruit boxes, cigar boxes or anything handy around the camps. The toys were painted in bright colors, wrapped and given to children who otherwise would have had none.

Some Contribute for Toys
Last year every CCC camp in the First Corps Area in New England was busy weeks before Christmas making toys. At other camps each enrollee contributed 10 cents to buy toys.

A camp in Ohio this year made 50 doll cradles and 50 small wagons out of salvaged material. In its wood-working shop last year, this same camp repaired and repainted hundreds of old toys.

In some camps near town, enrollees—especially Negro boys—sang Christmas carols in churches and over the radio.

and gaily decorated, these trees are hung with toys which are distributed to needy children who are invited to Yuletide parties.

The camps within the Arctic Circle in Alaska, through all the states and in Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands use a large variety of native plants for Christmas trees. The Eskimos use the stunted, stocky Arctic spruce found along the river valley of the Yukon and Noatak rivers.

Native Trees Decorated

Boys in the 48 camps now salvaging wreckage caused by the New England hurricane had plenty of thrown spruce to choose from. In the deep South the graceful long-leaf pine and holly trees were available. In Arizona, the giant saguaros, or queer desert cactus, was lighted and strung with tinsel to make a gay, if unusual, Christmas tree.

In Colorado and through the Rockies, the Engelmann spruce served. In California the CCC boys decorated small redwoods or sturdy white firs, while along the Pacific Northwest coast, Douglas fir was a favorite.

This year a new note came into the Christmas picture. CCC work is being carried on in northern Alaska within the Arctic Circle—among the Eskimos and the Lapps. The work centers largely around the care and better handling of reindeer, building shelters for emergency use of reindeer herders and extermination of wolves and coyotes that prey on young reindeer.

Reindeer Valued Animal
The reindeer is considered a most important animal for Americans on the northern fringe of the continent. It furnishes meat, milk and clothing for the Eskimos—and transportation for Santa Claus.

After Christmas dinner, the Civilian Conservation Corps may be known as the Corrupt Consumers Corps.

The 300,000 enrollees have planned to eat 250 tons of turkey. The 40,000 turkeys will be garnished with 150,000 bushels of cranberries and washed down by 3700 gallons of milk, John D. Guthrie, CCC general inspector, revealed. The boys will eat 171-2 tons of pumpkin, 100,000 eggs, 22 tons of bread crumbs, 6 tons of onions, 81-2 tons of sugar, and smaller quantities of ice cream, cake, mince pie and assorted fruits and nuts.

'WILDCAT' BUS MEN ARRESTED

Operators of "wild-cat" stages met trouble recently on the California border when, at the instruction of William G. Bonelli, member of the State Board of Equalization, an inspector for the Motor Vehicle Transportation License Tax act was stationed at Blythe in Riverside county.

Investigated
As a result of his check-up, 11 operators were investigated, five being arrested for violating the act which requires an annual license fee and payment of three per cent tax on the monthly gross receipts of all who haul either passengers or merchandise for hire on public highways.

All five pleaded guilty in Blythe justice court. One operator was sent to jail for five days; another was fined $25; a third was fined $20; a fourth was fined $5, given a 90-day suspended sentence and made to return $8 paid to him by a passenger. The fifth also received a 90-day suspended sentence.

$50 Given Passengers
Of the remaining six investigated, three had complied with the board's license requirements and there was insufficient evidence to arrest the other three. A total of $50 was returned to passengers by the various operators.

"The State Board of Equalization is giving fullest cooperation to other state departments in stamping out the 'wild-cat' operators," Bonelli said, "by making frequent check-ups at border points through which they operate. Gullible travelers who patronize the 'wildcatters' have been defrauded of passage money when dilapidated equipment broke down or drivers disappeared to leave them stranded in remote places. Other passengers have been beaten when they demanded return of their fares. The 'wildcatters' are a real highway menace and we will rigidly enforce provisions of the transportation tax act as it applies to them."

Arrest Balks Honeymoon of One Of Three In Quiz

Three Mexican men, one of whom was married just prior to his arrest, were under order of Justice Kenneth Morrison today to appear for preliminary hearing January 4 at 9 a. m. on charges they forged their endorsements to fictitious checks.

Lupe Placentia, 22, 927 East Pine street, the newlywed, appeared at police station voluntarily yesterday afternoon and submitted to arrest by Officer Tom Kinney. The others were Jose Campos, 26, Yorba, arrested by Deputy Sheriffs Steve Duhart and James Musick yesterday, and Manuel Rocha, 27, 804 East Fourth, Santa Ana, arrested Monday evening by Deputy Sheriffs G. F. McKelvey and Duhart. The men are free on their own recognizance pending the preliminary hearing.

Jimmie Fidler in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, December 23.—According to the trade papers, which have made an up-to-date check, the Movie Quiz Contest being conducted in connection with the great "Motion Pictures-Are-Your-Best-Entertainment" campaign is a colossal flop. Less than two weeks remain before the closing date and only 160,000 entries have been received. Theater jobbies are stacked with entry blanks which movie-goers were too disinterested to take—and that in spite of the fact that the prizes offered, 5,000 of them in all, range up to a neat $50,000. The public apathy to a contest like that is significant. Isn't it high time for Hollywood producers to realize that John Public, through saturation, has become bored with such high-pressure publicity stunts? Isn't it high time to concede that the only way to sell him tickets is to produce consistently good entertainment? All the fanfare and footpaw accompanying the current campaign is wasted. Theater-goers have gone right on patronizing stand-out shows and staying away from second rate productions, just as they were doing before Hollywood plastered the country with "Best Entertainment" slogans. The fact is that movies can no longer be sold on a novelty basis. They have become common-place—as much a part of the American scheme of things as bacon and eggs. And the public is shopping for them just as it shops for its stable groceries. Ask any sugar refiner, for instance, how he sells his product. He will answer "by quality and price"—not "by trick advertising."

YOUNG FARMERS EARN $7861.74

Members of Orange county chapters of the Future Farmers of America had a total labor income of $7861.74 during the past year, an average of $5 per project. It was reported today by Leslie Waigh, instructor in agriculture at Garden Grove High school.

Vocational guidance is taught in the Capistrano, Valencia, Garden Grove and Newport Harbor high schools.

Projects were in poultry, dairy, swine, beef, field crops, truck crops, citrus, nursery and rabbits. Livestock projects were in the majority, with poultry a close second. Beside the ownership projects there were 12 record projects for farm improvement and experience.

Students with outstanding projects from each school included Edwin Haven, five acres beans; Peter Yamauchi, three acres tomatoes, from Capistrano; Arthur Gibson, six Jersey cows and five Jersey calves; Arnold Christen, 480 turkeys; Charles Vudich, 12 acres sweet potatoes, from Newport Harbor; Stanley Van De Putte, 15 head purebred Duroc hogs; Bud Lemke, 10 head Chester hogs; Alvin Lypps, 300 meat birds and one dairy cow, from Placentia; William Kobayashi, 16 head purebred Berkshire hogs; Ray Guyon, 150 laying hens and 300 chicks, Jim Yoshida, 21-4 acres of truck crops, from Garden Grove.

This year's returns are by far the largest for the F. F. A. members in Orange county and are due to the growth of this program in the last year, Waigh said.

In vocational agriculture the boys carry home projects on which accurate records are kept for the purpose of learning the best farming methods and record keeping as well as to earn money.

County's Poet in 'Lighter Mood'

Seated amidst her books, and with the small Madonna and angel figures which she modeled for Christmas as a background, Miss Beulah May, Orange county's "poet laureate," is shown with her constant companion, "Tom Bones," the famous white cat known to all friends who ever drop in at the home of the poet on Mabury street.

HOME OF BEULAH MAY RINGS OUT SWEET SONGS OF HEART

That oft-quoted saying regarding making a better mouse-trap than one's neighbors, and having the world beat a path to one's door has never been better exemplified than in the case of Santa Ana's well known poet, Miss Beulah May.

For Miss May seldom stirs far from her own rooftop at 1002 Mabury street, and yet of all the noted people in Orange county, perhaps none has a more direct pathway to his door from far places of the world, than has this one singer of sweet songs of the heart.

Beulah May's poems are printed far and wide. A Princeton University professor uses one of them as a model in lyric beauty and perfection of phrasing and metrical construction.

Nation Wide Comment. Eastern writers whose names are recognized as the best in talent for this country afford, write her, send her their poems, comment on her own gifts, and the beautiful book, "Buccanner's Gold," from her pen, and the Junior College Fine Arts press.

One of Miss May's interests has been that of conducting the weekly column, "Modern Poets," in The Register, a feature that has run for the past seven years, and has attracted such interest elsewhere, that newspapers all over the United States have adopted the same plan. Poems for use in this column are frequently copied, with credit to The Register in which they appeared. In this one year just coming to a close, there have been 48 reprints of such poems, many of Miss May's appearing in such eastern papers as the New York Tribune.

An omnivorous reader, Miss May has a small but well chosen library in which may be found some fine first editions and an exceptionally good set of French books. Her home, with its heirloom furniture,

HUNDREDS USE VOTE AS JOKE

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 23.—(UP)—The temptation for a humorist to write down an odd name on an election ballot rose to new heights at the last general election, with Dummy Charlie McCarthy and labor prisoner Tom Mooney being particularly honored in Los Angeles county.

Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan was quite amazed when he sifted through the Los Angeles ballots and jotted down some of the more frequent and unusual names. Not once but dozens of times appeared the names of movie stars, historical characters, comic strip celebrities and fictional people.

Why Not Orphan Annie? The more numerous choices for Governor were Mooney, McCarthy, Charlie Padlock, the famous sprinter of a decade ago, Boob McNutt, the comic strip character and Leo Carrilla, movie star. Carrillo appeared again for Lieutenant governor.

Jordan suggested a Democrat may have written in the name of former president Herbert Hoover for secretary of state. Two motion picture comedians—Frank Morgan and Joe E. Brown, were delegated to be state controller.

Two Share "Fame?"

Mooney appeared again as attorney general, his backers probably figuring his extensive experience in the courts would qualify him for the important job. William Shakespeare and Actor William Powell also shared Mooney's fame for this position.

It was Mooney and McCarthy again for United States senator, with "Wrongway" Douglas Corrigan and CIO leader Harry Bridges furnishing the opposition.

Popular Choices. The four most popular choices for board of equalization were Kay Kyser, the band leader; Ben Turpin, the cross-eyed comedian; Alf Landon, unsuccessful candidate for president, and Jack Benney, the radio comedian.

But the contest for state treasurer easily climaxed the written campaign, with lawbreakers mentioned frequently. Here is a cross section: Walter Winchell, Jesse James, Mooney, McCarthy, Fred Murray, Clark Gable, ex-mayor Frank Shaw of Los Angeles, Bing Crosby, Al Capone, Tom Sawyer, Shirley Temple, Ding Pedro, Bob Burns, Mae West, Andrew Jackson, Warren Billings, Anna Laura Barnett, Julius Caesar, Harry Lauder, Andy Devine and the Jones boys.

PORKY SWELLS WITH PRIDE— BUT WILL END UP ON TABLE!

Imagine the surprise of Charles Berge this week when he received a live porker as door prize at the annual dinner party which Southern Counties Gas company management gave for 250 Orange county employees who assembled in Anaheim Elks' clubhouse.

In fact, it was a surprise to everyone to have a suckling pig joining in festivities which had been planned exclusively for Gas company employees and a number of guests.

Special or "Glamorous"? Of course, "Piggy" may have been rated as a special guest, even though he wasn't at the table when dinner was served. However, it is expected that porky will be on the Berge table with an apple in its mouth Christmas day.

Awarding of this unique prize was one of several features connected with the party. There were six acts of vaudeville, followed by general dancing to the music of Los Angeles Serranos Country club orchestra.

On the committee in charge were Wayne Tibbs, Ralph Shallenberger and George Bancroft. Fred Merker presided. Guests included N. R. McKee of Los Angeles, vice-president in charge of sales; and E. C. Cox of Los Angeles, general secretary of the company.

MILE-OF-YULE' FETE IS HELD

PASADENA, Dec. 23.—Special—More than 200 "doll-a-year" men, women and children of this and neighboring communities, who make possible the annual lighting of the "Mile of Christmas Trees," today were luncheon guests of the Kiwanis club.

The occasion was the get-together of these unpaid aides—Boy Scouts, club men and women, special deputies and others—who direct traffic and otherwise help in the nightly "Christmas Tree Lane" spectacle in Altadena.

Millions See Spectacle. It was reported at the luncheon that more than 4,000,000 visitors had passed down the lane, Santa Rosa avenue, in the 18 years the lighting of the big deodars has been carried out.

The 12,000 colored lights strung on about 200 trees will be switched on Christmas eve, and be lighted nightly from 7 o'clock to midnight through January 2.

The first 10 months of 1938 have had 21 per cent fewer traffic deaths than the same period of 1937. That means that approximately 6760 lives were saved.

RECALL DARING NEVADA COUP

Eugene V. Wiley, 28, of Santa Ana, whose four Nevada lawyers were not wily enough to prevent his extradition to Orange county, appeared without them in superior court here late yesterday and pleaded guilty to child abandonment.

Pronouncement of judgment is scheduled next Tuesday.

In Daring Coup

Wiley was extradited from Carson City, Nevada, December 15, in a daring coup executed by Orange county officers. Deputy District Attorney Bob Gardner and Deputy Sheriff Steve Duhart obtained the extradition warrant from the Nevada governor, then played tag with Nevada courts, escaping across the border with their prisoner 20 feet ahead of the four Wiley lawyers and the sheriff, who was waving a court writ of habeas corpus.

Enters Spirit of Chase. Wiley himself entered into the spirit of the chase, after the officers had him out most of the day in abandoned buildings of a remote desert resort, and ended by showing his captors a "back way" to the border, by which they managed the escape.

the turn at Flower street; his car ran across a vacant lot, through the wall of a garage belonging to Al Garthe, Santa Ana fireman, and injured Garthe who was at work in the garage. Then, according to assertions of police, Perez disappeared.

He was arrested later when he went to police headquarters to retrieve the car, not knowing he was wanted. Witnesses asserted Perez had been drinking before the accident. Garthe is recovering from an injured hip. Deputy District Attorney George Tobias is prosecuting Perez. No defense attorney has been employed or enlisted.

Prominent Stamp Man of Orange Sells Collection

William C. Ahlmann, 629 East Maple street, Orange, has sold out his complete stock of stamps and stamp collectors' supplies to the new firm of Higgins and Brightman of Long Beach and San Clemente.

This material will be auctioned off at a later date by the new firm.

Ahlmann is one of the oldest stamp dealers in California and had one of the largest stocks in this state. "Bill," as he is known to his many friends, keeps his own personal collection which runs mostly to United States stamps, and was started years ago when he was a boy. One thing about this collection, it contains unused stamps of the Chicago World's Fair which Ahlmann bought himself back in 1893.

Jose Perez Jr., 21, of Olive street, Westminster, who became involved in a spectacular accident here Sunday night and assertedly left the accident was held to answer to superior court for trial yesterday afternoon, on a charge of hit-run driving. Justice Kenneth Morrison held there was sufficient evidence to order Perez to trial.

Driving west on Pine street, Perez assertedly failed to make

Home Radiates Holiday Charm For Gala Tea

Joy of the Yuletide, of reunions with old friends, and of a birthday celebration contributed to the charm of a tea at which Miss Barbara Rowland and Miss Helena Bailey entertained yesterday afternoon in the home of Miss Rowland's parents, Mayor and Mrs. F. C. Rowland, 810 South McClay street.

Added significance was given the occasion when guests learned that it marked Miss Rowland's birthday anniversary. She is enjoying a vacation from her studies at Scripps College, while Miss Bailey is home from University of California, Berkeley.

The home radiated the beauty of the season, with ribbon-tied cedar wreaths, and a pretty tree of outstanding interest. An arrangement of white carnations and a daisies figure met with delighted interest, as did the appointments in the dining room. A tea cloth brought from China by Miss Ruth Rowland spread the table, which was centered with a flat-creation of Christmas balls and white carnations on an oval mirror. Tall tapers completed the setting.

The coed hostesses' sisters, Mrs. Russell Wilson (Ninette Rowland) and Mrs. W. D. Gibbins (Edith Bailey) of Oakland, presided at the wassail bowl. Fruit cake and other Christmas dainties were served. Mrs. Wilson wore a black velvet gown with silver girdle. Miss Rowland wore a black velvet skirt with metallic cloth bodice; Miss Bailey was in black with a sequin bodice.

Assisting throughout the afternoon were the two mothers, Mrs. F. C. Rowland in burgundy lace and Mrs. Bailey in grey chiffon with a cerise bolero. They joined in receiving the 50 guests, who called between the hours of three and five o'clock. Mrs. E. D. White and Mrs. T. E. Stephenson were among the old friends sharing the hospitality with the college young people. Mrs. Rowland's mother, Mrs. C. F. Crose and Miss Ruth Rowland were members of the family group taking part in the affair.

Golden Rule Class Enjoys Celebration

Golden Rule Sunday school class of Spurgeon Memorial church was entertained Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Oscar Kuriz, 640 North Ross street, where Mrs. Kuriz and Mrs. Flora Heemstra were hostesses.

A lighted Christmas tree and poinsettias decorated the living room where guests enjoyed a gift exchange and a session of games. Refreshments were served in the dining room, where silver bouquets and blue tapers provided the setting.

Present were Mesdames Henry Miller, J. B. Anthony, Beulah Blakeman, Philip Perry, J. Ward, C. C. Hoge and the Misses Irene Anderson, Molly Anderson and Melba Matheny; with a guest, Mrs. Emily Pyle.

Wednesday Bridge Club Has Gift Exchange

Wednesday Bridge club members shared an annual holiday party this week when they were guests in the home of Mrs. R. G. Tutthill, 2035 Victoria Drive. White chrysanthemums centered the table at which luncheon was served.

The group sought the living room with its pretty Christmas tree for an exchange of gifts. Bridge play took up the remainder of the afternoon.

In the party with the hostesses were Mrs. J. E. Liebig, substituting for Mrs. A. G. Plager; with Mesdames George Briggs, A. J. Cruickshank, F. E. Farnsworth, C. V. Davis, James Harding, Roy Hall, Philip Hatzfeld, Earl Morrow, Parke Roper and Irwin F. Landis.

PRETTY PARTY SETTING

That big silver-tip fir which forms the Christmas tree in the Forrest Anthony home on East Santa Clara avenue, and the desert holly placed for the Yuletide, made a delightful setting for the latest meeting of an intimate two-table bridge club. Mrs. Anthony served a dainty dessert course at the close of the round of play.

Mrs. Kenneth Ulrich and Clarence Spencer, made the evening's prize-winning scores. In the party were the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Gene T. Ankrom, Mr. and Mrs. Spencer and Mr. and Mrs. Ulrich. The Ankroms will entertain at the next meeting of the group.

Dinner was served at 5 o'clock from a table spread with lace over a red cloth. A silver tree, reindeer and Santa Claus figures added to the charm of the setting. Gifts were exchanged later in the evening.

Center of interest was little Miss Nanci Diane Lykke, daughter of the Carl Lykkes, who spent her first Christmas with the complete family group. The little girl will be two years old in February.

Luncheon Is Followed By Club Exchange Of Yule Gifts

As hostesses at the holiday meeting of X. N. O. club, Mrs. Warren Webb and Mrs. B. A. Hershey introduced a different note into the usual club affairs, by entertaining their guests out at the Knott Berry Place. Christmas tree favors formed place cards at the table decked with holly and red tapers.

After enjoyment of the delicious chicken menu, the group returned to the Webb home, 1401 Martha Lane, where the fire, blazing cheerfully on the hearth, a beautiful silver tree and a gift exchange made a happy afternoon. Club members especially enjoyed dainty little Sandra Webb, three-year-old daughter of the home, who with Mrs. Mills, a guest, took part in the gift exchange.

The hostesses served bright-colored Christmas candles throughout the afternoon to their sister club members. Mesdames A. B. Bennett, W. R. Edwards, E. E. Edwards, E. E. Perry, Stanley Hardin, S. K. Hershey, R. A. McPhee, H. R. Trott and J. T. Manning. Mrs. Trott will be hostess at the meeting on January 11 in her home, 1321 West Ninth street.

Bracelets with the Sigma Theta crest are being proudly worn by the Misses Madeline Paxton and Lila Adrian, since their formal initiation Wednesday night into sorority membership. They were complimented at a pretty holiday dinner staged at Danigers with the blue-lighted Christmas tree as a background, and with blazing red tapers and bowls of poinsettias to deck the table reserved by the group.

Miss Ruth Baker chapter president took charge of the initiatory rites, presenting the bracelets and nosegays of violets to the two candidates. An evening of bridge and Chinese checkers followed, with the Misses Bette Campbell and Madeline Paxton as prize-winners.

Before the party came to a close chapter members gathered around the big Christmas tree to enjoy an exchange of pretty gift packages.

In the group with Miss Baker and the two initiates, Miss Adrian and Miss Paxton, were Mesdames George Bradley, William Jerome Jr., Joseph Irwin, Dwight Ainsworth, the Misses Dorothy Van Deusen, Bette Campbell, Louise Rurup, Barbara Rurup, Gladys Margueret, Bette Timmons and Lois Murray.

Candles Form Program Theme For Pierian Club Members

In the cheerful holiday atmosphere of the Henry W. Guthrie home, 824 North Olive street, Pierian club members yesterday enjoyed a program very appropriate to the season as a prelude to a gift exchange around the prettily decorated tree.

Mrs. E. G. Warner had chosen the subject of "Candles" for her sister club members to versify, and the theme itself was title for Mrs. Margaret Church's opening poem. Mrs. Jean Bohlander wrote on "Afterglow"; Mrs. George W. Bond on "Their Christmas Eve"; Mrs. Jennie Crawford on "Live the Candles" and an absentee member, Mrs. Fanny Davis of Washington, sent her poem on "Lights."

Three poems were presented by Mrs. J. D. Watkins, "A Little Lad Sings," "Another Month" and "Glimpse of Cuba." Mrs. C. L. Tacker chose "Follow the Gleaner"; Mrs. Mary Perdue read "By the Candle's Light"; Mrs. Earl Ladd gave "A Simple Christmas Greeting," and Mrs. T. P. McKee closed the program with a most interesting poem. She had given the day's theme to a young relative of Mr. McKee's, Herbert McKee of Corning, Iowa, and he and one of his shipmates aboard the U. S. N. cruiser "Minneapolis," wrote the poem read by Mrs. McKee.

Miss Leonora Tompkins, a guest, read Sara Taft Teschke's "I shall not try to read what is in your mind," and also played Godard's "Venetian Barcarolle," and Mrs. Charles G. Nalle, also a guest, sang two Christmas songs to her own accompaniment. Mrs. Lawrence Chaffee completed the guest group sharing with members, the tempting dessert course served by the hostess. Pierian club will meet next on January 26 with Mrs. Bohlander, 822 South Broadway.

Sattler Home Is Scene Of Dinner Event

Colorful lights of the big Christmas tree on the grounds of the George Sattler home at Panorama Heights sparked a welcome to Wednesday Bridge club members and their husbands last night when an annual party was given in the hilltop home.

Under the leadership of Mrs. B. J. MacKullen, club members carried out plans for a festive party in compliment to their husbands. The spacious home provided an ideal setting for the event, which began with the serving of turkey dinner from a dining room table made bright with tapers and red berries.

The same decorative design was applied to smaller tables where guests were seated during the dinner hour. Mr. Sattler provided gifts for the men in the party. The club prize in bridge was won by R. C. Hoiles.

In the group were Messrs. and Mesdames George Sattler, B. J. MacKullen, R. C. Hoiles, Mark Lacy, Leonard R. C. Hoiles, H. T. Dunning, Howard Hagg, and Mesdames Sara Johnston, Haddon, Marguerite Borgmeyer, H. B. Van Dien and A. L. Melenthin.

Luncheon was served from the dining table, which mirrored silver bells and Eastern holly. Tapers lighted the scene.

Mrs. Charles Spicer was a guest substituting for Mrs. H. B. Van Dien, who was on jury duty and unable to remain for the afternoon of bridge. Mrs. Will A. Flood was over from Pasadena for the event.

Bridge Group Observes Its Usual Custom of Yule Season

Friendly associations maintained throughout the year by one of the city's little bridge-playing groups, reach their climax annually with the arrival of the holiday season, when it is the custom of Mrs. Burr Shaffer to receive the club in her home, 1243 South Broadway.

This year's party took place Wednesday night, and members recalled that they are now starting on their "teens," for it was the thirteenth holiday party for the group with their hostess. Always they have a very special dessert course—on the current occasion, a delectable Swedish torte. Always too there is the arrangement of greenery and candles, the decorated tree with its twinkling lights, special bridge prizes, and as a finale to the evening, presentation of gifts for which names had been drawn several weeks earlier.

In the evening's bridge party first and second prizes were won by Mrs. Henry Williams and Mrs. Arnold Lund, while the two galloping awards were retained by Mrs. Neal Stanley and Mrs. Emmett Elliott. Others in the group in addition to the hostess were Mrs. Robert Jeffrey, Mrs. C. W. Hyde Jr. and Mrs. Minor Cox.

Copettes Take Part In Christmas Affair

Holding a monthly party Wednesday evening in the home of Mrs. Richard Bradley, 925 Cypress avenue, Copettes took part in holiday festivities arranged by Mrs. Bradley and her co-hostess, Mrs. C. J. Roehm.

Dessert was served at tables centered with holly. A Christmas tree and poinsettias furthered the Yuletide theme, with exchange of gifts highlighting the evening. Winning prizes in bridge were Mesdames George Boyd, B. A. Hershey and J. F. McWilliams.

Present were the hostesses and Mesdames George Boyd, Paul Cozad, Harry Fink, J. W. Foster, Chester Gross, F. L. Grouard, B. A. Hershey, Floyd W. Howard, Daniel Jones, J. F. McWilliams, W. B. Moreland, Alfred F. Moulton, C. L. Neuschwanger, Francis Norton and Herman Stahl.

Mrs. Foster and Mrs. McWilliams will be hostesses to the club January 18.

Miss Betty Shidler Entertains Club

One of the first events to be given in the new home of the V. C. Shidlers, 1129 South Garvey street was a dinner party Wednesday night when Miss Betty Shidler entertained club members from Lathrop Junior High school.

Assisting in carrying out plans were the hostess' parents and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Shidler and Miss Jacqueline Shidler. They served dinner at a table spread with lace and lighted with tapers in red cellophane holders, matching the nutcracker.

Gifts were exchanged later in the evening. A guessing contest brought first prize to Miss Melva Yarbrough, while the Misses Catherine Stockton and Pauline Struck were rewarded for their high and low scores in beano.

Present were the hostess and the Misses Marian Ashland, Dorothy Wall, Marguerite Alvord, Melva Yarbrough, Catherine Stockton, Helen Rupert and Pauline Struck.

Orange Aides Observe Holidays With Party

Refreshments were served at the close of a session of Chinese checkers.

Silver, White Theme Observed at Luncheon

Expressing the Yuletide theme with appointments in silver and white, Mrs. Mona Summers Smith entertained her bridge club Tuesday afternoon in her home, 2301 North Flower street.

Bridgettes Received For Their Annual Holiday Party

Mrs. G. F. Ludlow presided at a party for the Bridgettes this week in her home, 1040 West Fourth street, making their annual Christmas party one of general charm. The bright flowers and holiday appointments of the home were in harmony with the tree, which figured in the gift exchange of the later afternoon hours.

Mrs. L. C. Davidson, Mrs. Ned Hayes and Mrs. Ernest Ashland each had an additional lovely gift, for their bridge scores won the prizes offered by their hostess. The serving of refreshments brought the afternoon to a close. Bridgettes have played together for the past fifteen years, with few changes in the original club membership. There was one guest to share the holiday party, Mrs. R. G. Lewis, substituting for Mrs. Edward Opper, the one absent member. Others included with the hostess, Mesdames George Lipincott, Don Murphy, Everett Cornwell, Roy Gowdy, Ralph Mitchell, Edwin Childs, John Turton, L. C. Davidson, Ned Hayes and Ernest Ashland.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON — Publicly, Captain Anthony Eden made no criticism of the Chamberlain Government during his recent visit to Washington. But in his private talks, he evinced some very strong differences with the former chief of the British Cabinet.

One was in regard to the Chamberlain policy on Spain, especially the granting of belligerent rights to Rebel Generals Franco.

"If that happens," the young Foreign Minister said, "I shall resign from the Conservative Party."

Eden, although already resigned from the Cabinet, remains a member of Chamberlain's party, and his resignation from it would be a terrible political blow to the Prime Minister.

Within the past few weeks, the United States also has made it clear to both the French and the British that this country is absolutely opposed to granting belligerent rights to Franco. Belligerent rights would give the Fascists the right to blockade Spanish Loyalist ports, would cut off all food supplies, starve out Barcelona in short order.

With belligerent rights, Franco could blow up British, French, American vessels. It would mean an early Fascist victory.

Italian Strategy

Another matter discussed during the Eden visit—which dovetails into Spain—is what Mussolini really wants in the Mediterranean.

1. The French railroad from Djibouti, on the Red Sea, to Addis Ababa, capital of Ethiopia. (The Italians want to pay for this on such long-term installments that it would be a virtual gift.)

2. Participation in control of the Suez Canal.

3. Belligerent rights for Franco, Mussolini most wants the last. It means the end of the war in Spain, gives him a chance to station Italian troops along the French border, gives him naval and air bases to cut France off from her African colonies. After establishing these, if he wanted Tunis, he could probably take it.

For this reason Premier Daladier is adamant against giving belligerent rights to Franco. He would much rather give it to Duce the first two concessions.

The French have exchanged views with the Roosevelt administration on this, and they see eye to eye. The Administration has gone even further and encouraged the French to stand up against the British. Diplomatic opinion is that joint efforts of the French, the U.S.A. and Captain Eden may steady the weak knees of Neville Chamberlain.

FDR Toast

During the recent congressional junket to Florida, Governor Fred C. Cone invited several of the Washington visitors to an informal function where a toast was drunk to President Roosevelt. Here was the toast:

"To Franklin Delano Roosevelt—may God bless, and correct him."

Hoover Breakfast

Herbert Hoover maintained a tight-lipped silence on politics during his recent one-day visit in Washington, but he listened with interest to the comments of others.

The discussion occurred at a breakfast given by National Chairman John Hamilton. Present were about a dozen of Hoover's old friends, plus Republican congressional leaders. Most vocal was Senator Vandenberg of Michigan.

He had quite a bit to say about the pro-Townsendism of his young Massachusetts colleague, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, and it was not favorable. "Auctioneer" was what Vandenberg called him, for proposing a $50-a-month compromise pension plan.

Tom Dewey and Ohio's new publican Senator Robert T. Taft were two who did not seem to be high with the Michigan Senator.

Vandenberg seemed to be in very pessimistic mood, for he targeted thumbs down on the Townsend movement.

For taking a conciliatory attitude toward the Deal, after what had happened in November, Senator said he saw no reason for trying to curry the friendship of the Roosevelt regime.

Hoover confined his remarks to a few generalities, but his only reference to matters was to echo Dewey's disparagement of the pro-Townsend movement.

Mr. Hoover voiced the law to various friends during the Townsend movement, and the GOP could not traffic in the Townsend movement, serious consequences to the nation's economic affairs.

The Limit

is blemish Senator Bennett presidential candidacy, Jack doesn't know it. To conceal cronies he expressed amusement at such reports.

"Bennett is a nice young fellow," allowed the Vice President, "but he will never be President. He has come as far as he will get."

Pigs and Whiskey

The Patent Office and four guinea pigs are aiding experiments for a short-cut method of aging liquor.

One of the problems of the liquor industry has been the four-year storage before whiskey can be properly aged and labeled "bottled in bond." Now U. S. Patent Number 2,022,418 covers an invention which substitutes one hour of chemical treatment for four years of aging.

The process consists of passing a gas through the liquor to make it mild, mellow and smooth, and "knock the headache out of it."

The inventor tested it with guinea pigs. He took four types of whiskey—raw, neutral, aged and treated—and gave an intravenous injection of each to a guinea pig.

He claims that the first three types killed the guinea pigs, but the fourth pig, which took the treated whiskey, passed out for a time, then revived, nibbled grass, took a drink of water, and fully recovered. (Copyright, 1938, United Features Syn.)

Had lunch with Pauline Moore and heard how she took her four-year-old Laurie Ann Christmas shopping. Afraid that they might be separated in the milling mob, she coached Laurie in self-identification. Arrived downtown, she decided on a last rehearsal. And here is her report of the conversation. Q—"Where do you live?" A—"At home." Q—"Where's home?" A—"Back there." Q—"What street?" A—"The other one." Q—"Who live at home?" A—"We do." Thus, she started her day's shopping by buying an identification tag and hanging it around Laurie's neck.

After watching Director William Wyler induce a couple of nervous lions to pose motionless, a scene by gently massaging their throats, I asked him why he doesn't use the same technique with Hollywood's temperamental gas. "Confidentially," he retorted, "I wouldn't dare trust my will power. I might not stop with massaging once I got my hands on their throats." Copyright, 1938, McLaughlin Syn., Inc.

With Italians concentrating troop support in northern Spain, the Insurgents are preparing a great drive against Barcelona. ## Comparing Proposed Supership and Biggest Warboat

President Roosevelt is studying a recommendation calling for construction of one of the largest and most powerful superdreadnaughts ever launched. Photos above, reduced to scale, show how the 710-foot warship would compare with the 624-foot U. S. S. California, now the largest battleship in U. S. fleets. Both pictures are of the California. The new 45,000-ton dreadnaught would cost around a hundred million dollars.

Contractor Gets Payment On Pier

SEAL BEACH, Dec. 23.—Officials have made the first payment to the contractor, Anasco Construction company, on the construction of the new Public Works administration building, financed $110,000 municipal pier project here, PWA Resident Engineer Inspector Leon C. Michales announced today.

This marks the first transfer of funds to the contractor, paying for work already completed. This will cover part of the cost of materials and pay for his men who receive the prevailing rate of wages under the PWA recovery act which made the funds available for construction of the pier at this time.

The federal government makes an outright grant of 45 per cent of the cost of the project.

Fifteen per cent of this amount was available for local officials at the start of construction on the project, and the remainder of the federal contribution will be made available at certain stages of construction. Meanwhile, local officials will make payments to the contractor for work accomplished from time to time.

Progress on the new project is satisfactory, PWA Engineer Michales stated.

Present Tableau In Mission City

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Dec. 23.—The annual Christmas program of the Community Presbyterian church was held Tuesday evening with an attendance of nearly 200 people.

The program was given by the primary department, with Mrs. Ruth Stewart in charge. A tableau illustrating the story of the Christmas candle was given, with Billy Speer, Marilyn Koecker and Betty Lou Jones playing the principal parts. The intermediate classes joined in singing "The First Noel," "Little Town of Bethlehem," "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear," "Away in a Manger" and "Silent Night."

David Prenter, superintendent of the Sunday school, arranged for presents to be given every child in each of the Sunday school classes. He read a letter from the board of trustees, thanking the teachers and other workers of the church for their service during the past year and expressed the gratitude and appreciation of both the board members and Captain Albert N. Park Jr., pastor of the church.

SHERIFF'S APPOINTMENTS

Sheriff-Elect Jesse L. Elliott is to be commended for retaining nearly a score of the deputies and office workers who are serving under Sheriff Jackson.

Undoubtedly Mr. Elliott could have filled every post with new men. He undoubtedly had many obligations to faithful workers during the primary and the general election. The fact that he did not pay off these obligations at the expense of the public is most commendable.

Mr. Elliott recognized the fact that many of the men under Sheriff Jackson had served the public faithfully, loyally and efficiently. To dump them out wholesale would have been unwise and it would have been a costly move to the people. These men merited reappointment and Mr. Elliott took cognizance of the fact.

A fine body of men, from top to bottom, has been selected by the new sheriff and he will take over his office on January 2 with the least possible friction, because many of the workers will continue in the positions they now occupy.

It is a costly procedure for the general public when a new officer takes over and cleans house. Inefficient service is given until these new men can learn the ropes.

With such old timers as Cora Kurlle in the office and Herman Zabel at the head of the identification bureau the routine of the sheriff's office will not be broken when the new deputies and sheriff take over January 2.

Among the new appointees are experienced men, such as Sam Jerigan, former sheriff, Jesse Buckles, Bob Sandoz and George Franzen, Orange Police chief. They will be a great help to the new sheriff and the public they serve.

AN ABSURD APPOINTMENT

If you remember the geometry you studied in high school, you may recall a stunt which went under the high-sounding title of "reductio ad absurdum."

The idea was that if you had a theory to test, and suspected that there was something wrong with it, you selected the dullest example you could think of and carried it to its logical conclusion. Then, when you had a thoroughly cockeyed situation on your hands, you proved that the theory itself was phony. You did this by reducing it to absurdity—"reductio ad absurdum."

Maybe that's the procedure being followed by the Board of Supervisors in some of its recent actions—namely the appointment of a county counsel.

Apparently the Board had a theory to test. Whether they suspected there was something wrong with it we don't profess to know. But we do know that when the theory is carried to its logical conclusion the Board will find that it has a cockeyed situation on its hands.

The theory in the first place was wrong. Why appoint a county counsel to give opinions and decisions to the Board at a cost of $3900 yearly when the District Attorney and all his assistants and deputies are at the beck and call of the supervisors?

With the cost of government at its present standard it behooves public officials to ease the burden of the people instead of increasing it. No business man in his right senses would add another man to his personnel when he had half a dozen others who could do and were doing the same work without additional cost.

It's not a tough task to spend the other fellow's money, but the test of a true workman is whether he can save the other fellow's money and still do an equally good job. If he can he should be retained in office. If he can't there are hundreds of others who can.

An absurd situation has been created by the Board through an absurd appointment.

"LITTLE MAN, WHAT NOW?"

In an editorial aptly entitled "Little Man, What Now?" the Oklahoman says: "It has been said by those who figure out such statistics that if the United States were to pay as it goes, our taxes would now be the highest in the world, which makes it rather cold comfort to remind ourselves that taxes in England are now higher than they ostensibly are in the United States."

"True to the old saying, there is but one thing besides death that's sure, and that's liberal taxes. Little man (and that means most of us), you'll pay until it hurts."

"You'll pay more, proportionately, than the rich man. The liberal tax-eaters are hungrily sizing you up. Liberal bureaucracy is growing every minute. The liberals are going to get you, even if you do watch out."

Estimates vary as to just how much taxes—most of them of the "hidden" or "invisible" variety—are paid by the average little man. But most authorities agree that they amount to more than one-fifth of every cent he earns. That means that you work one day out of five for government. It means that out of every dollar you spend, more than 20 cents finds its way into the hands of the tax collector. It means a lower standard of living for yourself and your family. And you are paying only part of the bill—the rest is yet to come.

The little man has far more to gain from economical government than the big man. The hidden taxes that are an inescapable part of what you pay for a loaf of bread, a theater ticket or a suit of clothes, are infinitely more important to the $20-a-week clerk than to a $20,000-a-year executive. As the Oklahoman points out, the "little man" is getting his now—and he'll get still worse if he doesn't make his protests felt.

Sharing The Comforts Of Life

By R. C. Hoiles

WHAT CAUSES WEALTH TO BE PRODUCED?

Benjamin de Casseres states very concisely the philosophy of the production of wealth which I have been attempting to set forth in this column. It is so well stated that I quote:

"The wealth of nations comes from its people."

"When the people of the United States can no longer produce wealth there will be nothing left for the Government to hand out."

"All the wealth of the world depends, and has always depended, on PRIVATE INITIATIVE, on the resourcefulness, adventurousness and enterprise of its INDIVIDUALS."

Those peoples are richest where government has interfered least.

"Those peoples are poorest where government has interfered most."

"All state regulation tends to destroy private wealth by freezing the sources of wealth—the INDIVIDUAL."

"Excessive taxation ultimately destroys wealth by destroying the activities of the producers of wealth."

"Fascism, Communism and Socialism are destroyers of wealth. Russia, Italy, Japan and Germany are bankrupt nations today."

"If the United States is to continue to forge ahead, as it has done in the past, it must follow the rule of the past—that is, the Government must keep its hands off of those things which the individual can do better—and that means almost everything."

It is well to remember that private initiative is a result of the philosophy of Christianity where the individual is permitted to make decisions with the least possible coercion and where all men have equal liberty to develop. This is the same as practical democracy.

A LAND OF GREAT SCARCITY

All our painters of wish pictures and pleasant illusions invariably are repeating the fallacious statement that this is a land of plenty.

Instead of this being a land of plenty, this is a land of the greatest scarcity in all the world and in all history. And by scarcity, we mean the difference between what we want and what we can produce. It is true that we are in a position to produce more than we ever have in our history per person, but it is also true that our wants are infinitely greater now than they ever have been in the past so that the difference between our wants and our ability to supply these wants are greater than they ever have been.

So it seems to be absurd for people to be saying that this is a land of plenty when, in reality, it is a land of scarcity.

Unlimited Work To Be Done

It logically follows, this being a land of scarcity, that there is unlimited work to be done; that there never in all history was as much for people to do. People are not out of work because there are no wants and no desires, but they are out of work because of artificial interferences with free exchanges. There is not a scarcity of jobs but the unequal rewards due to these artificial interferences so discourages people that they are not willing to work for what is left after those who are protected take the major part of the production.

The thing we will have to do before there will be desirable jobs for all is to eliminate the artificial combinations for restraint of trade and then there will be plenty of jobs for all at much better wages on the average than we ever have had.

PLENTY OF CONSUMERS

A contributor who believes the cause of our unemployment is lack of consumption, inquires: "If we have no trouble getting people to consume, why the depression today?"

The answer to this is that it is not a question of consumption but it is a question of getting people to work and letting other people have the fruits of their work.

That is the cause of unemployment today. It is the interference with the free exchanges which is the only possible way of having high production and a high standard of living that causes the unemployment. It makes the rewards for those who are discriminated against by collective bargaining units, by misuse of bank credit, by tariff walls, by discriminatory tax laws, so that they can make a better living while it lasts by voting for doles and pensions than they can by working for it. But the trouble is, it will not last and we will gradually get poorer and poorer if we do not stop this meddling and restricting with free production and free exchanges.

from standstill as quickly as a driver in a conventional gear-shift car, but you'll have smoother, continuous acceleration without bucking. And when you come to a red light and halt the car simply by applying the brake, you can flick your cigarette ash while fellow drivers around you press on clutches and shift gears. For you don't have to do these things, since the fluid drive enables the engine to idle in high gear. In fact, practically the only time you need to shift gears is when you want to get into reverse.

Secret of this dream-like car performance lies in the use of the hydraulic oil clutch used to supplement normal-gear transmission. Instead of mechanical clutch devices operating a flywheel at the point of power transmission, a hydraulic device using oil circulating in turbines is employed, doing away with mechanical engagement. As gear shift changes are made automatically at different acceleration speeds, no clashing of gears is possible.

Installation of a fluid drive in a Chrysler custom model marks its first appearance in an American automobile, following introduction of the same type of drive in England several years ago. It has been of great aid in driving in urban traffic. The English call the fluid drive a "traffic clutch."

AIM OF SOCIALISM

(King Features by Benjamin De Casseres)

"If the certainty of a full belly is to be made the only goal of Socialism, then the inmates of Sing Sing and Leavenworth penitentiaries are already living under Socialism," says Eugene Lyons in his "Assignment in Utopia," a book that every one who still has a remnant of belief in the "Russian experiment" should read.

Indeed, that is all that socialistic and communistic states could ever be—vast jails. That is all that Soviet Russia is today. That is all Germany is today (for Germany, remember, is controlled by the National Socialist Party). And that is all Italy is, for Italy also is a Socialistic-Fascist state, Mussolini having been one of the leaders, before the war, of European Socialists.

"Security" should not be the aim of any American. It should be more and more LIBERTY based on SELF-RELIANCE.

Register Clearing House

"It is for each to supply that which he sincerely believes to be true, and add his unit of influence to all other units of influence, and let the results work themselves out."—Spencer. Contributors are urged to confine their articles to 300 words.

Fellow Citizens: I am the "parrot-advocate" and "Townsend dreamer" referred to in Sharing the Comforts of Life column in December 20 Register.

The Register editor is also a parrot as he repeats so many things he copies from books written by others. Every preacher is a parrot who tells what he learned from others before him. Everybody are parrots because most of what they say was told by others.

Mr. Hoiles' "Townsend Plan a Recovery Plan!" establishes right now his caliber as a valuable (?) guide to the readers of his paper.

As to the truth of what he attempts to crash down the throats of people who are not so glib as to swallow it, he has never given on proof to verify his astounding gibberish. I do not believe Mr. Hoiles is a drunkard. If he were then I would attribute his jargon to too much indulgence in the "cup". How any normal person could make the rash statements he feeds to his readers is another of the many mysteries.

I defy him to prove that "the Townsend plan is just a legalized form of stealing." His comparison of the two per cent transaction tax to the commission on shares of stock he sold emphasizes the question as to whether the prosperity and happiness of the majority is of less importance than the financial profits of speculators in stocks and bonds that so often result in losses to small "investors". He keeps on repeating, like a "parrot," the exploded statement "have to take 30 per cent of the national income alone to pay the Townsend pensions"—"in addition to all the other necessary taxes to take care of the government," when it has been so clearly shown that the transaction tax will not affect the national income except to increase it and, in time, pay off the national debt.

His statement that "wealth is only added to by people intelligently converting the natural resources into what man desires and which includes exchanging them between producers" is precisely the Townsend plan which will accelerate its accomplishment more than ever before.

I realize it is a foolish waste of time to argue with The Register editor and will not comment on his outlandish talk about forcing money into circulation and "turning to ideas that will make prosperity possible and enable people to have a better living."

W. F. ROCKWELL.

Fellow Citizens:

Any one who has attempted to park his car in the shopping district during the past few weeks is quite aware of Santa Ana's parking problem. It is no fun to go around and around several blocks trying to find someone "just coming out" of a parking spot.

Other day, after spending ten minutes driving around, I was forced to park my car SIX blocks from the store I wished to visit. The other night I had to park so far from a certain theater that when I got there the seats were all taken, so I turned around and went home! No doubt your readers can duplicate these difficulties.

What can be done about this parking problem? There simply isn't enough free space around the streets in the shopping district to hold all the people who are attracted to this booming area. It is inevitable that such lack of facilities is driving people to shop elsewhere. It is time the business people took cognizance of this fact. It isn't a question of management, for the present spaces are well-controlled by our police, and are efficiently arranged under the present plan. The problem is greater than that. It is an engineering problem. It is inefficient to allow a person who occupies a space about four square feet to use a space of 48 square feet. And that is exactly what happens when one person goes shopping with his car, and most people shop alone.

A few years ago I ran across a suggestion which seems to appear more and more feasible as one studies it. The plan is simple, unique, and practical. The novelty of the idea may, however, make many hesitate to sponsor it, but I am willing to wager that if they will consider all angle and give it careful thought, they will come to the conclusion that it is an excellent solution which will last for years to come.

Here it is. The plan calls for large, municipally-controlled parking areas at each of the four edges of the shopping area, which would be north and west Main Street, and east and west Fourth. Next, an ordinance prohibiting parking on Main and Fourth in the actual business district. This would facilitate a great flow of traffic. Then a fleet of large buses would be purchased which would proceed from one parking area to the other on Main Street, and from one parking area to the other on Fourth. These buses might possibly be of the type used at the Chicago Century of Progress. This type holds ninety people, and it is so made that it is very easy for passengers to hop off and on quickly.

With this plan in operation a customer would drive to the nearest parking area, hop on the next bus (the wait would be short because of the short haul), alight at whatever store he wished, do the shopping, and return on the next bus. If one were shopping on east Fourth and wished to go to north Main, a bus would take him to the intersection and there he could board the north-bound bus. Various combinations like that could be effected which would speed up the time required in shopping.

What about the cost? The cost could be borne in three ways. First, a charge could be made either for parking or for the bus. Second, it could be tax supported. Third, it could be supported by the business men of the area affected. It would seem that either of the latter two would be feasible. At first glance it might seem that the cost would be high, but if the business men would figure the convenience of such a method for the shopper, I am sure they would approve.

What about the private parking lot? They will be affected. These areas will continue to do so. This plan is for those who do not patronize either the parking lots or the bus even now. To inaugurate such a plan would mark Santa Ana as one of the most progressive towns of its size. Anyway it's an idea.

A RESIDENT.

Family Doctor

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, Health Magazine

The New York State Department of Labor has given special consideration to carbon monoxide poisoning, and has issued the following advice to be adopted when difficulties occur:

(1) Keep windows open as much as possible.
(2) Do not permit the engine to run and discharge exhaust gas directly into the air of the workroom. Every workroom should have a flexible tube which can be attached to the exhaust pipe, and through which the exhaust gas may be carried outdoors.

(3) Remember that carbon monoxide gas has no smell. You cannot, therefore, know if carbon monoxide gas is in the air by the smell of the room or by cloudiness of the atmosphere.
(4) If you suffer with headaches report the fact at once so that the air conditions may be inspected, and proper ventilation established.

(5) If you do not feel well, see a doctor at once. You may be particularly sensitive to carbon monoxide gas, more so than the others. In that case you had better change your occupation. It is not safe for you to be exposed to even very small amounts of the gas.
Do not hurry around unnecessarily at your work. The more exercise you take, the more carbon monoxide gas will get into your blood.

If one of your comrades faints, get him out into the fresh air at once. Put blankets under and over him, and surround him with hot water bottles or hot bricks. Keep him warm at all costs or he may develop pneumonia. Persons who become asphyxiated with carbon monoxide gas are peculiarly susceptible to pneumonia. Call the gas company and an ambulance at once. You must always call both of these, because ambulances are not equipped with resuscitation apparatus. In the meantime the patient should be given artificial respiration by what is known as the "Manual" or "Schaefer" method.

Everyone working in industries where there is a possibility of exposure to carbon monoxide gas should be familiar with this method of resuscitation. It is easily carried out. Anyone can learn how to do it. He may thus by his knowledge be able to save someone's life.

If the Schaefer method of artificial respiration does not produce results, it is now a standard procedure to administer, together with the artificial respiration, a mixture of oxygen and small quantities of carbon dioxide. Carbon dioxide stimulates the brain center associated with breathing and the oxygen will help to displace the carbon monoxide from its combination with the blood and thus give the tissues of the body opportunity to recover.

A. F. OF L. OBJECTIVES

By John T. Flynn,

A number of letters of protest have come to me in reference to a stand I took some time back on the American Federation of Labor's proposed goal of $4000 a year for every American family.

The protests take the form of lashing out against anyone who thinks a laborer should not try to improve his condition or anyone who opposes labor's efforts to organize to do that. Why, they ask, should not a workman try to earn $4000 a year.

Of course there is no reason why a workman should not want to earn $4000 a year and every reason why he should organize in a

News Behind The News

By PAUL MALLON

World Copyright 1938 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—No body here knows where this bank of China is—the bank now receiving about $135 millions of credit facilities from the U.S. government.

The usual cautious Jesse Jones, chairman of RFC, does not know, although he furnished the $25 millions loan on the bank's guarantee. More cautious treasury Secretary Morgenthau doesn't either, although he promised to furnish about $110 millions of dollar credit on the bank's gold, held in New York banks.

The bank may be rolling around on wheels somewhere behind the Chinese lines. It may be in Chiang Kai Shek's pocket, his cellar, or somewhere in his wandering capital.

Al, there is a line in Mr. Jones' announcement of the loan, saying he expects it to be repaid by the importation of wood oil from China.

No wood oil was imported from China last month, and for a very good reason which still prevails, none is expected soon. The oil (tung) comes from two provinces in the interior, depending upon the Yangtze river for an outlet to the world. The U.S. formerly imported quantities for use in paints. But since the Yangtze valley was seized by the Japanese, not a drop of wood oil has been permitted by them to come to us. They have diverted it for their own use. They have barred the channel and hold the key.

If you had made such a loan you might be worried, but not Messrs. Jones and Morgenthau. Their import-export bank has no fear of bank examiners. They own it. They can make "charter loans," sometimes known in the bank trade as "diplomatic loans." The bank "China has never failed to pay in the past. Furthermore, Great Britain decided—singularly just at the very same moment—to let China make similar arrangements there under the British exports credit guarantee department.

This simultaneous (not to say joint) Anglo-American action has inspired a surprise here that the democracies may be learning a few things from the dictators, at least as far as discrimination between nations which are friendly and those which are just casual acquaintances.

Deductions from this set of facts are not being drawn officially. Mild tea table discussion has followed Mrs. Roosevelt's sincere insistence that members of the Presidential family be allowed to live their own lives. It has always been a White House family problem. Coolidge's sons were too young to work. One of Hoover's sons caused some discussion in those days merely because he took a legitimate engineering job with a passenger mail contract. Washington generally has considered the problem a matter of personal choice. There is no rule. Presidential sons have generally desired to refrain from anything which might embarrass the President, such as cashing in on the family name, and at the same time to establish their own careers. Most have found it impossible. Washington has never known a modern one who was satisfied or entirely free from criticism.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—Mrs. Roosevelt sounds again the recurring theme of the members of the President's family be allowed to live their own lives and the patient insistence that they are damned if they do and damned if they don't. According to the Washington copy, Mrs. Roosevelt says the American people, sooner or later will have to decide whether they want in the White House the sort of family whose children will make no effort to earn their own living and in which the wife will renounce all previous interests and obligations and become totally dependent upon the husband for the period of the presidency.

To borrow a gag from the ideology talkers, Mrs. Roosevelt oversimplifies the case. Nobody has criticized any of the Roosevelt children merely for endeavoring to make a living and Mrs. Roosevelt herself has been treated with courtesy in the pursuit of her new ones. However, it is not likely that another such family will come to the White House, so the people probably will not have such an issue as she states, even though it be conceded momentarily that she states it correctly.

The first little grief that assailed the White House family after the first inauguration had to do with some rather spirited motor driving by some of the boys, and a very short time accumulated a bridge hand of cards from traffic officers. Naturally, being sons of the President, their difficulties with the law received extraordinary prominence, which had to be accepted as one of the penalties of place.

Later, at the very hour when Mr. Roosevelt was making a speech in which he referred bitterly to persons who ride in carriages and drink expensive wines, a young man bearing a remarkable likeness to one of his own sons, while riding in a carriage on the French Riviera, poured champagne into the ceremonial plug hat of the local mayor as that official bowed in greeting. It was later explained that there had been a mistake in identity, but people naturally marveled at the coincidence which placed two young Americans so much alike in the same European life at the same psychological moment.

However, even if the first erroneous identification had stood, the American people, and many of the French, too, would have enjoyed the spontaneous, inspired mischief of the cat and would have held nothing against the youth or his father. The boy was just a kid, off on his own for a good time, and it seemed too bad that it couldn't be helped, for the act was in keeping with the spirit of those French carnivals where the guys squeeze the girls and everyone gets a smooch. Perhaps the President's speech would have been slightly discredited, but there would have been no appreciable damage to his prestige or the family name.

It was Jimmy who curbed the sharpest criticism, and in his case it was no mere question of making a living, but that question plus the question of how. As Mrs. Roosevelt herself says, there is no ethical obligation not to profit from the association, and Jimmy admitted that in one case he asked that "especially good care" be taken of a visitor to the President-elect "because it is important to me in a business way."

After that Jimmy was taken into the White House in the inflexible, confidential post—a move which gave formal approval to conduct which would seem to violate the ethical obligation which Mrs. Roosevelt herself recognized. Extended the same approval to the whole White House family and the whole administration and what kind of ethics would we have?

The present White House family has raised much new business, created precedents in personal conduct by members of a President's family, and it is not unnatural that these matters have been discussed. Certainly Mrs. Roosevelt herself has not been the conventional Madam President, but even aside from the White House propaganda, she has had the most courteous and considerate press of all union to advance the interests of himself and his fellow workers. No one is more for that than I am.

What I called attention to was the proclaimed goal of the A. F. of L. to establish an income of $4000 a year for every American family. And I did so not because I would not like to see all American families enjoy such good fortune but because American workers have so many objectives to achieve and so many diversions from them by these futile objectives.

But there is another reason for calling attention to it. I did so because I thought this announced plan characteristic of what I consider a weakness of the A. F. of L. That weakness is found in the fact that the A. F. of L., according to my views, is not interested in every American family, but only in the small group of families which belong to the A. F. of L. The only way to get $4000 for American workers now is at the expense of other American workers.

Get Goal Straight
At present three out of every four American workers earn less old age pensions at one time.

than $2500 and over a third of the workers earn less than $1000. The great goal of labor now should be to meet the grave and difficult problem of raising the wages of these forgotten groups who earn less than $1000 a year—and this means, remember, in many cases as low as $500 a year. The only way this can be done is by organizing all the workers.

Laws like workmen's compensation, old age pensions, unemployment insurance, and minimum wage laws are made for the protection of the great unorganized groups more than any others. But if we have not had laws like these for years, I believe it was partly because the A. F. of L. was not interested in the low wage workers.

A Look at Record
Samuel Gompers opposed even workmen's compensation for years. Years ago the A. F. of L. fought health insurance along with the Civic federation and the insurance companies. The A. F. of L. opposed unemployment insurance until 1932. It fought for years the minimum wage law and it opposed

SKI'S THE LIMIT

BY ADELAIDE HUMPHRIES
COPYRIGHT, 1938 NEA SERVICE, INC.

Yesterday Corey consented to bring Dan to his party and vowing that he'll be sure to be on time, for Dan surely can be no rival now.

CHAPTER XI

SALLY thought that Saturday night would never come. Suppose Corey did not succeed in persuading Dan to come with him when it did? Her birthday party would be a failure. To see Dan was the only gift she wanted.

She received many other presents, a cunning little wrist watch, set with diamonds, from her adoring father, and a new riding horse, which she christened Lucky Star, because of a star-shaped white spot on the mare's head. Flowers from Corey, red roses, which she knew were supposed to stand for love. Some exquisitely embroidered handkerchiefs from Babe, a huge box of sweets from Jude.

Sally spent a lot of time trying to plan a party that somehow would be different; a party in which Dan, if he came, could join. She did not want it to be the usual noisy rad-de-da, like so many others. She wished the season had been later so that it could have been held out-of-doors. Deciding on the next best bet, she finally made up her mind to hold it in the big barn. A barnyard party, it should be, in every detail. Hay stacked in the corners, spread over the floor, lanterns hung from high rafters, an artificial silver of a moon. A hill-billy orchestra would furnish music and entertainment. A midnight feast would be served; guests were to wear their oldest clothes. There were to be games of every description, some that would be new, others that everyone had played in childhood.

SALLY never looked prettier than she did in her old-fashioned checkered gingham dress, a wreath of daisies in her dark curls, her eyes bright, her cheeks flushed as she welcomed her guests. Corey was late. But that was not unusual. He never got anywhere on time. Besides, if he brought Dan, he would have to drive to the far side of town to pick him up.

The evening did not begin for Sally until she glimpsed Corey's fair head towering in the doorway, and behind him a darker one that made her heart begin to pound. Then they were coming toward her, Corey with his long swift stride, Dan following more slowly—and, yes—Sally's heart-beat slackened, pity flooded through her—he was walking with an unmistakable limp.

She hurried forward, holding out her hand, making no effort to conceal her eagerness. Sally, who never ran to meet anyone, who always cleverly concealed any eagerness she may have felt. She had waited for this moment too long to hide her heart with subtlety. Then she was looking into those gray eyes, so direct, so dear, she was saying, "Oh, I'm so glad you came, Dan! I was so afraid you might not. It's so good to see you again."

"It's good to see you, too, Sally," Dan returned, in his quiet, grave way. "To be frank with you, I didn't think I ought to come. But I had a special reason."

"Special or not," Sally dimpled at him, "you are here—and that's all that counts." Oh, he looked so terribly thin, so pitifully white. Gone was the deep smooth tan from wind and sun, the strength and vigor from conquering mountains. He looked different, too, in his gray suit and stiff white collar that took the place of rough sport togs. He looked too dressed up, too conscious of that fact; his clothes were too new and pressed and proper.

SALLY introduced him with real pride to her other guests. She warned Babe, sotto-voce, to see that Dan did not feel left out, while she attended to her duties as hostess and got the party on its way. She knew her friends would not mean to be rude or unkind to any stranger, but they were so completely absorbed in their own circle, so noisy and gay, they might forget that Dan did not belong.

Sally was determined that he should belong, and feel that he did. She made every effort all through that long evening to see to it. But before the evening was fairly well started, Sally had to admit to herself that her party was not a success. That is, so far as Dan was concerned. Oh, he joined in the games, he laughed with the rest of them, he did his part. But perhaps he could not forget that at other affairs like this he had been behind the scenes, helping in the kitchen, earning his way. Perhaps this new world was, as he had told Sally, too far removed from his. But he was part of it now. Sally had brought him into it, she would make things right.

When it was time for the midnight spread Sally looked around in vain, searching for Dan. Just a minute before she had seen him, standing apart, talking earnestly with her father, who had come out to watch the young people for a little while. But now Dan was nowhere in sight. He might have stepped outside to get a breath of air. The big barn was close and crowded with so many people.

"Oh, here you are!" Sally said. He was outside, standing alone, looking up at the real moon that hung a big golden ball low in the sky. "I have been hunting for you, Dan. It's almost time for a grand march and for the supper afterwards. I want you to be my partner."

He turned and looked at her, searchingly, slowly. Then he shook his head. "It's no go, Sally Blair," Dan said. "I told you I only came tonight for a special reason. I'm going to leave—for the same one."

Sally said, "I don't know what you mean. I only know I'm glad you came, Dan."

"But you see now, which was what I wanted to prove to you, the reason I spoke of, that I don't fit in. I told you that, Sally, once before—remember?"

As though she could forget! On top of a mountain, in a snow-white world. That had belonged—for one brief, fleeting, lovely moment—just to them alone.

"I know why you asked me to-night," Dan said. Corey had made it plain enough, he thought, now without grimaces. "You feel sorry for me. You still think you are to blame for the accident. I told you I didn't blame you for that. I told you that had nothing to do with the fact that we never can be friends."

"If we can't, it's because you won't be. Because you really haven't forgiven me. Because you won't give me another chance," Sally said. Her face, raised to his, was sweet and pleading in the soft golden light, her dark eyes were as grave as his.

"That's all past," Dan said. "I don't blame you for anything now. I'm forgiving you for everything—if there is anything to forgive." How could he do otherwise when she looked so lovely in her little gingham dress, with the circle of daisies for a crown, in her hair, when—once more—for another breathless moment the whole world seemed to belong just to them?

"Then we are friends," Sally said. She gave him her hand, to seal the bargain. Her lips trembled, her heart pounded with joy. Things were going to come right now; she would make them. This was only a beginning.

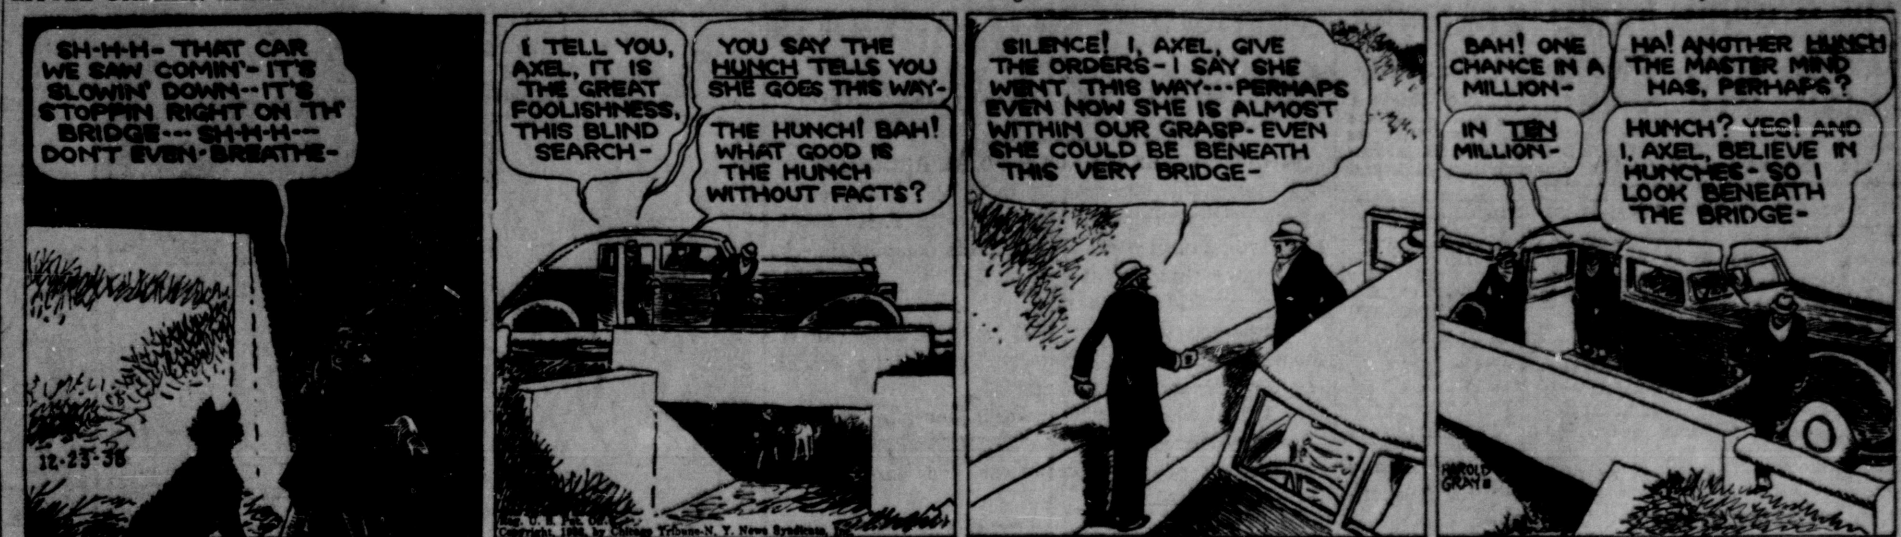

"You seem to have forgot," Corey's voice broke in suddenly behind them, "that you're my girl for this evening, Sally, that you're still paying up on that old dare! You are my partner for the grand march and supper."

THE POWER OF LOVE

Have you a child who does not seem to understand that you are trying to help him and goes contrary to all your hopes for him? Does he sulk when you correct him, argue when you advise him, rebel when you command him? Most children do as this one does, and the best cure for his disease, which is nothing after all but childishness, is to love him.

Have you a little girl who seems to think that all the knowledge of the world is bound up in her light head? Does she storm when you caution her, weep when you prohibit her waywardness, rebel when you insist that she take the wiser way? Many girls do, and the best cure for their childishness is to love them. Love the girlish mistakes along with the girlish loveliness. Just keep loving her.

Maybe you have an ailing child, sick for many days with little hope for recovery? Maybe the doctors have shaken their heads and looked out of the window while they talked to you. Keep loving that child. Keep holding on to him, keep knowing that in him there is a power for recuperation, for growth, for cure, that is beyond all human understanding and love might bring it out. Love cures what all else fails. Just keep loving him, keep hoping, keep on trying. Love works miracles.

Or you have a child whose mind lives in the shadows. He does not grow as other children grow; he does not laugh as they laugh, play as they play. Love him. Hold on to the truth in every child no matter how deeply hidden there is some power for growth. No child has ever yet been as completely developed as his power for development allowed. Hope for this one, plan for him, work for him with all the power that love, which is infinite, can bestow upon you. Love creates as well as cures.

It may be that the child of your heart has gone on and left your heart full with your love for him. Keep on loving him. Nothing that was ever created can really die. The child lives on in your thought of him. He is in every lovely thing you see or feel or know. All your life is glorified by your love for him. Keep it. Cherish it. It is the one force that speaks of eternity, of life immortal. Love never really dies.

When children try your soul, as they will; when they cause you grief, as they do; when they rouse your anger and provoke you to wrath as is their way; when they reduce you to tears and prayers as often happens; love them. Don't bother about anything at all until you have first made clear to yourself that your love for the child in question is holding firmly, swelling warmly in your heart. Then, whatever you do will be as nearly right as it is possible for human judgment to be right.

Love is strong. It serves; it waits; it suffers, but it never gives up. Love is like magic, giving strength to the weak and wisdom to the foolish. If you have a child, or know a child or deal with a child, love him.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three cent stamped, self-addressed envelope for reply. (Copyright, 1938, The Bell Syn., Inc.)

It is reported after a survey that out of 25,000,000 passenger cars in the United States, only an average of 300 are moving daily in coast-to-coast trips on the main east and west trans-continental highways.

tance as we thought safe. I remained behind while John, with the glasses, went down to see if he could locate the sheep. For a big man he was like a weasel, working his way, unseen, among the rocks and ledges and soon was lost to sight. In a short time he returned to report the sheep about where they had been the evening before, all lying down looking over the rough valley where nestled our little tent, some thousands of feet below.

The wind blew up the valley so there was no danger the sheep would get our scent but still it took us some time to get to the escarpment below where the sheep were lying down, as they always do, about noon. I can best describe this side of the mountain by saying while it was rough and precipitous on all other sides, here it was like a giant terraced garden in that there would be sloping grassy terraces, some of varying widths, others very steep; then a rocky bluff, or escarpment, and this continued from, say a thousand feet above our camp, to the top of the mountain. Through these dikes or barriers, there was an occasional narrow passage through which a sheep or goat could find its way—the only animals to inhabit this rough country.

Looks Through Glasses
Under one of these perpendicular bluffs, through which we could see no opening, John indicated where the sheep were and where they would stay, if not disturbed, until about 2 o'clock, their feeding time. I wasn't directly above them but to one side and so it was an easy matter to crawl behind a boulder and take a look at the rams, some 250 yards away, but which the glasses brought right up to me. What a wonderful "exuberant" feeling to see these wild, untamed animals, seemingly secure and unsuspecting danger, quietly resting there!

It wasn't my purpose to try for a shot while they were lying down, for sooner or later they would start feeding and as they nearly always feed up hill, it was my thought they would find we could move so as to be waiting for them at that point. John and I took it easy, occasionally taking a peek to see if the rams were still resting.

It must have been nearly 2 o'clock when I called John's attention to the smaller of the rams, coming up through a small opening we hadn't before seen.

Small But Handsome, Alert
Though small, what a handsome alert thing he was! He looked about for awhile to make sure there was no hidden danger and then began to feed. Soon he was followed by another, and then a third and at the distance I am sure I could have easily made the kill. However, my strategy was to wait for them all to come up from below as the shooting would be much easier if they ran uphill.

Soon the two big rams came up, looked about and started feeding and slowly traveling. A rise in the ground hid the first rams to come up and now the big ones fed behind it. We were still flattened out behind the big boulder.

I had taken off my sweater and now got up and went as fast as I could to the upper end of the rise, which would bring me as close as I could possibly get to the rams. When, right behind a large boulder, I topped this rise, I was within 70 or 80 yards of the big rams—and as yet unseen.

TIPPY TACKER'S CHRISTMAS ADVENTURE

SELECT WINNERS IN H. B. CONTEST

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec. 23.—A group of three women judges viewed the Christmas illuminations and decorations last evening to select the best merchant's window and the most beautifully decorated inside and outside tree in a local contest.

J. P. Terry at Sixth and Main streets captured the prize for best outdoor privately-owned tree. Mrs. A. H. Dixon won first honors for having the best inside privately-owned Christmas tree. The residence is at 647 Frankfort street.

Eader's Bakery at 11 Main street captured the prize for having the best merchant's store window.

The illuminated home of Dr. and Mrs. L. F. Whittaker at 302 Third street won honors for being the most artistically-decorated and illuminated home.

Honorable mention went to Mayor M. McCallen for his beautifully decorated and illuminated tree in the garden and also for the tree within the home.

Trophies will be given at the annual chamber of commerce dinner at a date to be set in January.

The judges were Mesdames H. M. Hepburn, Vidah Reilly, of Huntington Beach, and Dale Braybrooks, of Midway City.

Seek Clues To Murder Mystery

KINGSTON, Pa., Dec. 23.—(UP)—The mutilated body of Margaret Martin was brought home today for burial as state motor police and other law enforcement agencies carefully pieced together a description of the stranger of the pretty 19-year-old stenographer.

From a variety of sources came meager bits of information. Girls whom the man was believed to have approached before he lured Miss Martin to her death with the promise of a job came forward with a description. Another person told authorities he had overheard the conversation of the man when he made arrangements by telephone to meet the girl at a street intersection so that she might guide him to her home for an interview regarding the prospective job.

I had taken off my sweater and now got up and went as fast as I could to the upper end of the rise, which would bring me as close as I could possibly get to the rams. When, right behind a large boulder, I topped this rise, I was within 70 or 80 yards of the big rams—and as yet unseen.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—(UP)—Railroad shares and the stock market higher today in anticipation of favorable legislation for carriers early in the next congress session.

President Roosevelt's committee on a railroad program submitted its report on requisites for railroad aid. It was believed this report would be the basis for railroad legislation in the next congress.

Railroad bonds mounted with railroad stocks and the whole list improved.

The London stock market made moderate gains in quiet pre-holiday trading. The dollar was easier in London and slipped in New York. London gold steady at a penny.
